Guard 'Monty' After Threat

LONDON, (CP)—Scotland Yard officials said Monday that a telephone anonymous threat to assassinate Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery "unless British policy on Palestine is immediately changed" was one of several potentially dangerous developments in the current war of nerves with the Jewish underground.

Police acknowledged "taking a serious view" of the warnings of Irgun zvai Leumi, Jewish underground organization, which has claimed credit for numerous Palestine bombings and for the recent bombing of the British embassy at Rome. The organization threatened by secret radio during the week-end to "extend our activities" to other countries, including Britain.

Guards, assigned to watch the homes of Lord Montgomery, chief of the Imperial general staff, and members of the cabinet, have been increased, while all visitors to the colonial and foreign offices—government departments most closely connected with Palestine—are being closely watched.

Extra precautions have been taken in other parts of Britain and persons arriving at British ports are receiving a double check.

These measures have been in effect some days now and will continue," a Scotland Yard inspector said, disclosing that the telephoned threat against Viscount Montgomery's life was made to one of the field marshal's aides Wednesday. Lord Montgomery could not be reached for comment.

Reports of death threats to a number of leading British public figures produced quick, official denials.

It was learned that Viscount Hall, first lord of the admiralty and former colonial secretary, had not received such threats, which had been reported in the London press. Viscount Hall's successor at the colonial office, Arthur Creech Jones also has not been threatened.

Nor has Prime Minister Attlee received any menacing letters or telephone calls, it was stated in official quarters. Mr. Attlee's name has not been mentioned so far in connection with the threats. It was understood that the usual security measures at 10 Downing street, Mr. Attlee's official residence, had been deemed sufficient, and that no added precautions were taken.

The war office was not prepared to comment on reports by Scotland Yard that Field Marshal Montgomery had been threatened or that information had been received suggesting that an attempt to blow up part of the war office building was planned.

The acting chief rabbi of Great Britain, Dayan H. M. Lazarus, Monday appealed to all Jews to give immediate information to the authorities should they become aware of terrorists' activities or the presence in Britain of members of terrorist organizations.

Armed detectives were stationed at all British ports and airdromes, it was reported, Scotland Yard was in constant touch with police authorities on the continent.

Informants added that the British deadline was being guarded by customs officials with radar-equipped high-speed cutters.

Tribute to Fallen of Two Wars Paid in Impressive Ceremony at Cenotaph

After solemn memorial services under the auspices of veterans' organizations, about 4,000 citizens either took part in or were onlookers at colorful and dignified services at the cenotaph on Remembrance Day. Dean A. M. Trendell, Montgomery branch of the Canadian Legion chaplain, gave the prayer. While servicemen, veterans and their families and friends stood at attention, colors were dipped and raised as the Reveille, Lament and Carry On were sounded in succession. In the above picture, the crowd is gathering as the parade from the Memorial hall comes to the scene.

Reds Lead After French Vote But Unlikely Control Cabinet

PARIS, (AP)—The Communists Monday emerged as the strongest party in France's new Fourth Republic, but the outcome of Sunday's country-wide election seemed unlikely to give it a strictly left-wing government.

On the basis of incomplete returns giving ballotage for a national assembly, some new coalition appeared probable in place of the combine of the Moscow-line Republican Populaire (M.R.P.), Communists and Socialists which controls the current provisional government.

Prior to the election the Communist party and the M.R.P. each promised to keep out of power, the other from a new cabinet, but the election results seemed to have made this impossible.

The Communists ousted President Bidault's M.R.P. from the legislative lead, winning back the place they took in the first constituent assembly elected Oct. 21, 1945, and lost in the second election last June 2.

May Claim Premiership

On the strength of their gains, the Communists were in position to claim the premiership and were expected to advance Maurice Thorez for the post against almost certain opposition from nearly all other parties.

But there seemed little chance they could muster a first majority in the legislature or in a cabinet. Anti-Marxist parties gained, too, while the Socialists lost heavily. As a result the M.R.P. remained the possible spearhead of a powerful anti-Communists bloc.

Returns late Monday gave: Communists 170 seats; M. R. P. 161; Socialists 52; Left Republicans (Socialists) 59; Rightists (Republican Party of Liberty and the Gaullist Union) 31; Independents 12.

Returns from the colonies on 26 additional seats are not expected to change the balance of power materially. The 618 deputies will serve five years in the assembly, the country's most powerful body under a constitution which the voters adopted Oct. 13.

Bidault Elected

Individual candidates elected included President-Foreign Minister Bidault; Communist leaders Maurice Thorez and Jacques Duclos; former interim president Felix Gouin, Socialist; Premier-designate Paul Reynaud, Edouard Herriot and Edouard Daladier, and Rene Capitant, head of the Gaullist Union and editor of Combat.

Hotel Clerk Victim Monday Robberies

NEW YORK, (AP)—It was bluemonday again for Warren Nichols, night manager of a Brooklyn hotel. For the third consecutive Monday at the same hour—4:45 a.m.—he was held up and robbed by the same youth.

Police said the thief, who held up Nichols at pistol point, scooped $239 from a cash register at the hotel Monday. On the two previous occasions the loss totaled $239.

Nichols said he was asking for Mondays off in the future.

Canada Observes Remembrance Day

OTTAWA, (CP) — Canada paid quiet thoughtful tribute Monday to her dead of two great wars.

It was the 28th anniversary of the end of the First Great War—of a day which all war was to have ceased. It was Nov. 11, 1946—less than 15 months since a longer, more terrible Second Great War ended abruptly with the use of the atomic bomb whose fearsomeness has tempered the joy of the hard-won peace.

Throughout the dominion Canadians wore the blood-red poppy symbol of the First Great War, and the bright, new ribbons denoting services of remembrance. At 11:00 a.m. there was the brief silence which years ago became a treasured part of the Canadian life.

Hundreds of bugles sounded the last post. Uniformed men marched and blind and disabled veterans listened as Canada again expressed its heartfelt Remembrance Day tribute. Thousands revived their memories of Orizna and Ypres, of submarine-infested Atlantic convoys and 1,000-plane bombing raids, of Caen and Vimy and Nijmegen.

Wartime leaders of Canada's three services spoke of the significance of Remembrance Day as a day of respect and challenge.

Abacus Too Speedy For Adding Machine

TOKYO, (AP) — A Japanese clerk, nimbly flicking the beads of the centuries-old abacus, easily defeated an American operating a modern-day calculating machine in a speed and accuracy contest before a large audience Monday.

Kiyoshi Matsuzaki's contraption of wire and beads proved superior in addition, division and subtraction problems while Pfc. Thomas N. Wood triumphed only in multiplication.

Matsuzaki won the final heat—a composite problem involving the four phases of mathematics.

Ottawa Studying Airways Control

Decision to discontinue air traffic control on the Northwest Staging Route was confirmed by Trade Minister James MacKinnon during the week-end but it was indicated final action still has not been decided.

"While I don't think it will have the crippling effect on aviation out of Edmonton that has been feared in some quarters, I am pursuing it further," he said Saturday.

Edmonton aviation officials contended halting air traffic control will be a crippling blow to flying here. It was explained about 400 to 600 flights are made over the north country each month, a volume of flying said sufficient to justify the fullest control efforts.

It was learned Monday that Commander C. P. Edwards, deputy minister of transport in Ottawa, was preparing a statement on the north air control set-up. This statement probably would be made public in a joint announcement by Commander Edwards, Mr. MacKinnon and Reconstruction Minister Howe.

One Ottawa source indicated Edmonton objections to the proposed dropping of air traffic control were "unwarranted" since sufficient safety system would remain in the north to meet all international requirements. It was explained the Northwest Staging Route is equipped to the highest standard with four ranges, meteorological services, air-to-ground communication and airport traffic control.

Department of transport officials say there is confusion evident between airport control and area traffic control. Airport control handles local landings and takeoffs while area traffic control handles traffic between airports. The latter is necessary only in handling a large volume of air traffic, it is argued.

Goods Worth $107 Stolen from Store

Thieves early Sunday stole a .22 calibre rifle, a hunting knife, 2,000 cartridges, two pairs of womens' skates and other goods to a total of $107 when they broke into the Sports Inn, 10149 102 st., police reported Monday.

The break-in was discovered by James Gardiner, 10166 102 st. He noticed glass smashed in the rear door and a new football lying on the ground at the rear of the building. He also noticed a youth running away and was able to give police a description of the suspect.

Mr. Gardiner told police at about 6:30 a.m. he had a call but ran away thinking it had been a police prowler car thought nothing of it. Ten min later when he was leaving his home, he made the discovery.

Ted Weal, proprietor of the store was informed of the theft at once and from his first check found $107 was the total loss. He said a further check might reveal a greater loss.

Estimates 30,000 Killed in Rioting

CALCUTTA, (Reuters) — A. K. Fazlul Huq, former premier of Bengal, said Monday after a tour of Bihar province riot areas that he placed the number of dead in the Bihar riots "somewhere in the neighborhood of 30,000."

Truman Promises Co-operate With Republicans in Congress

By Peter Ingis

WASHINGTON—President Truman promised the United States Monday he will accept the realities of the situation in which the election of an opposition congress has placed him, and will co-operate with the Republican majority.

But he stressed that he expects, in turn, that the Republicans will co-operate with him for the welfare of the country.

Standing tense and almost gray-faced before a crowded press conference, Mr. Truman read a statement outlining his position.

"Exercise of Restraint"

He key phrase: "Only by the exercise of wisdom and restraint and the constant determination to place the interests of our country above all other interests, can we meet and solve the problems ahead of us."

"I shall devote all my energy to the discharge of my duty with a full realization of the responsibility which results from the present state of affairs," he said.

"I shall proceed in the belief that the members of the congress will discharge their duties with a full realization of their responsibility."

Mr. Truman stressed once again that the foreign policy of the United States is bi-partisan, and added: "I firmly believe that our Republican colleagues who have worked intelligently and co-operatively with us in the past will do so in the future."

Blunt Warning

Then he produced a blunt warning to the loose-mouthed elements of congress: "My concern is not about those in either party who know the seriousness of the problems which confront us in our foreign affairs. Those who share great problems are united and not divided by them."

He spaced his words out: "My concern is lest any in either party consider it in this field an opportunity to achieve personal notoriety or partisan advantage by exploitation of the sensational or by the mere creation of controversy."

The statement ended with a simple and moving pledge: "I shall cooperate in every proper manner with members of the congress, and my hope and prayer is that this spirit of co-operation will be reciprocated.

Ample Shortening Promised for Yule

By H. B. Hardy

OTTAWA—The prices board has made arrangements to place in all retail stores during November, December and January a supply of shortening equal to the amount consumed during the same period in 1941.

This will mean that housewives will face the festive season with the knowledge that they should be able to get a reasonable supply of shortening for cooking purposes.

The increase is being ordered despite the fact that Canada is faced with a serious problem in obtaining sufficient oils and fats to meet requirements.

Because Canada's lard production has fallen greatly during the past two or three years steps have been taken to develop thseed oil shortening. Some 110,000,000 pounds of shortening to be produced, between 8,000,000 and 10,000,000 pounds will be manufactured from seed oil. This type of shortening will be used exclusively by industrial bakers.

Lewis, Krug Open U. S. Mine Talks

WASHINGTON, (AP) — John L. Lewis opened negotiations with Interior Secretary J. A. Krug Monday on a pay increase for 400,000 soft coal miners threatening a new strike Nov. 20.

The United Mine Workers' chief strode unsmiling into the conference room, heading 26 other mine workers officials. They included district presidents of soft coal producing areas.

Tracks Blown Up On Palestine Line

JERUSALEM, (CP) — Railway tracks were blown up at three places along the Tripoli-Haifa line early Monday near the Ras el Ain railway station, which has been destroyed by bombs 12 times previously.

Several mines also were found on the Jaffa - Tel Aviv railway line. No casualties were reported.

Police sought three Jews whom they accused of placing the bombs which destroyed the Ras el Ain station, killed one Arab and injured three British sappers who were trying to remove the explosive charges.

Authorities pointed out the similarity between Sunday's incident and the method employed by Irgun Zvai Leumi, Jewish underground organization, when a Jerusalem station was destroyed last week. Four days ago the group said it would continue to attack railway installations.

Postpone Meeting Chinese Assembly

NANKING, (AP)— Opening of the national assembly, called by Chiang Kai-shek for Tuesday to establish an all-party government for China, has been postponed "two or three days," information minister Peng Hsueh-pei told newspapermen Monday.

This was announced as Communist tempers flared anew over allegations that government troops in violation of the new cease-fire order were menacing the Red capital of Yenan, and as third-party representatives urged postponement of the session until the end of the month in the hope of reaching an agreement with the Communists beforehand.

Meanwhile government authorities in Peiping reported recapture of the entire northern section of the Peiping-Hankow railroad, vital link between north and central China after 2½ months of fighting.

The last section of the line, between Paoting and Shihkiachwang, was reported cleared of Communist troops a little more than 12 hours before the deadline of the Generalissimo's cease-fire order to his forces.

Communist spokesmen earlier called Chiang's order, effective Monday, a ruse which would not stop the fighting, and declared government convening of the constitutional assembly would be "means a final, complete national split, both political and military."

They have insisted that military forces revert to their Jan. 13 positions before the assembly meets to adopt a new constitution and to set up an all-party government. But government armies have made vast gains since Jan. 13, the date of a truce subsequently shot full of holes by both armies.

Insists Treasures Belong to State

OTTAWA, (CP)—Denying statements that the private property of state of Poland is the owner of the missing Polish treasures, the Polish legation Monday issued a statement dealing in detail with the history of the tapestries and other articles.

The treasures, ordered by King Sigismund Augustus for the royal castle of Wawel in Cracow in the middle of the 16th century, are the "inconquerable property of the Polish nation, the statement said.

WINDSOR, (CP)—Dr. Alfred J. Fiderkiewicz, Polish minister to Canada, expressed confidence in an interview Sunday that he would recover certain treasures now missing from a Polish collection safeguarded in Canada during the war and added "I am sure the Canadian government will help me."

THIEVES STRIKE AGAIN

LONDON, (CP)— England's jewel thieves struck again Sunday night, stealing £2,000 ($8,000) worth of jewelry from Stuart residence of Mrs. Ethel Reid, a widow.

Apathy Features Italian Elections

ROME, (AP) — Apathy generally marked municipal elections in Rome and 142 other Italian cities and towns Sunday.

In the capital, the municipal electoral office reported only 36 percent of the 932,696 registered voters went to the polls, while the figure for Turin was 55 percent, for Palermo 53 and for Naples only 28.

Morning papers generally echoed prophecies that the light vote would put the left-wing Communist-Socialist-Nenni party bloc in first place, with Premier de Gasperi's Christian Democrats second.

Unsettled weather was blamed in part for the light vote.

Six Trucks Carry Food to Alaskans

Six truckloads of meat and other food purchased in Great Falls, Mont., and shipped through Edmonton during the week-end en route to Alaska residents facing a serious food shortage due to U.S. maritime strikes. The supplies were being hauled over the Alaska highway after permits for travel on the road were issued here late Saturday.

Plans for purchase of meat and other food in Edmonton were discussed until late Saturday and included negotiations for ration coupons. W. Patton of the Canada Department prices board officials here to arrange for a supply of coupons sufficient for about 200 tons of meat to be bought from city packing plants. It was indicated the coupons would be made available if Ottawa and Washington authorize the purchases in Canada.

Mr. Patton was delayed in his negotiations by the Remembrance Day holiday and telephone calls to Ottawa and Washington failed to produce the required authorization. This was expected early Tuesday.

The truckloads en route north from Great Falls were permitted on the Alaska highway under new U.S.-Canada arrangements for American goods to travel on the road "in bond." To make certain delivery is made without a hitch at Fairbanks, W. J. Evelegh of the Edmonton transport office planned a flight north Monday to check with authorities there.

Mr. Patton remained in Edmonton during the week-end awaiting to renew negotiations for purchase of food in this city early Tuesday.

Crash of Airliner Kills 2, Hurts 18

CLEVELAND, (AP) — A United Airlines plane crashed into trees and high tension wires just north of Cleveland airport early Monday, killing the pilot and co-pilot and injuring 17 passengers and the stewardess.

The plane, bound from Chicago to Boston, crashed during a rainstorm. The victims were Pilot F. L. Bowen, 29, Chicago, and Robert L. Arnold, 25, Hammond, Ind. The plane was demolished as it spun into the ground, the engines being torn from the wings.

Fred Pasko, a truck driver, said he noticed the plane spin out of control, flying low with landing lights on and landing gear down.

"There was a flash as the plane hit some wires and the street lights went out," Pasko said. "Then the plane crashed into some trees, spun around and hit the ground."

Tito Forces Sweep Yugoslav Elections

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, (AP)—Serbian and Croatian voters were reported Monday to have voted from 90 to 100 percent for candidates of Marshal Tito's Peoples Front in the constituent assembly elections held Sunday in each of the federated Yugoslav states.

The news agency Tanjug commented: "To what extent the anti-national elements are weak is best shown by the fact they didn't even think of attempting to set up their candidates."

Pact May Give Lead to Others

By Richard Sanburn

OTTAWA.—Premier Garson and his Manitoba delegation completed their lengthy tax negotiations with the federal government here Saturday night, and caught a train back to Winnipeg.

It was the culmination of three weeks' steady hammering out, clause by clause, of an intricate agreement which in effect will be the basic agreement on which other provinces which decide to enter into a dominion-provincial tax framework will negotiate with the dominion.

"Our work finished tonight in Mr Ilsley's office," Mr. Garson said just before he left Ottawa. Except for a few clauses which will be re-worded, the agreement is complete, and Mr. Garson will submit it soon to his government, then to the Manitoba legislature He expects the Manitoba cabinet will authorize him to initial it to make it effective pending formal legislative authority to complete the formal five-year agreement.

Mr. Garson in his statement said: "It is desirable that there should be no misunderstanding of the work which the Manitoba delegation has been doing in co-operation with representatives of Saskatchewan, New Brunswick and Alberta during the past three weeks.

"In Manitoba's case, we were not receiving from the dominion government an agreement in principle or in general terms. That had been done weeks ago when we accepted Mr. Ilsley's budget offer of June last, which was open for acceptance to all provinces.

"During the past three weeks we have been engaged in the much more intricate task of drawing up an agreement which would apply in a detailed manner, the general terms of this dominion offer to Manitoba's actual circumstances.

"We sought a form of agreement which could be adapted to apply these same general principles to the circumstances of other provinces, with a maximum of fairness and uniformity."

Mr. Garson's statement gave no hint as to the formulas decided upon to adapt to each such individual and complicated matters as "gross national production," or the division of mining and logging taxes which are partly provincial and partly federal matters, or as to any agreement to adjust the millions of dollars' provincial debt outstanding in dominion treasury bonds.

Saskatchewan, with the heaviest treasury note debt, has been carry-

'Reasonable Prices' Pledged As Truman Lifts Controls

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Industry leaders Monday pledged reasonable prices as the United States shifted to a virtually free economy after nearly five years of controls.

In the wake of President Truman's order Saturday night knocking out all wage restrictions and all price ceilings except those on rents, sugar and rice came these developments:

1. Government officials said some rent increases are "inevitable."

2. Aides of Housing Administrator Wilson Wyatt predicted a "big drive" to encourage construction of new dwellings for rent. They said this is imperative because it may prove impossible to retain OPA rent sales price ceiling on new homes.

3. Reconversion Director Steelman and budget bureau officials moved to abolish creation of a "liquidation agency" to wind up the affairs of the Civilian Production administration and the Wage Stabilization board.

4. The United States Chamber of Commerce urged the removal of controls "benefits all," but that "other things also need to be done."

Chamber Lists Needs

William K. Jackson, president of the chamber, listed these as:

"Balancing the federal budget to remove the fear of inflation: eliminating remaining wartime controls as rapidly as possible; revising the tax structure to stimulate investment in new enterprise; and promoting labor and management on equal footing in collective bargaining."

Consumer groups generally condemned the lifting of controls.

Mr. Truman, in sweeping controls away, declared:

"The end of the war of our difficulties is the unworkable price control law which the congress gave us to administer.

"The plain truth is that, under this inadequate law, price control has not been effective and needed to make it work."

Home Controlled

The presidential order removed price ceilings from clothing, automobiles, building materials, furniture, metals, paper, coal, laundry—everything, in fact, that still remained under ceilings after the avalanche of recent decontrol actions except the scarce items of housing, sugar and rice.

Mr. Truman, in the statement which accompanied his action, declared:

"The law of supply and demand must be the basis for the market place, from now on, serve the people better than would continued regulation of prices by the government."

Red Deer Scene Of $50,000 Blaze

RED DEER.—Two business premises were destroyed and seven persons left homeless as flames swept through the Royal cafe and Humber's jewelry store on Ross st. Sunday, causing damage estimated at $50,000.

A number of lives were threatened as the fire broke out in the basement of the busy cafe at 4:00 p.m. It wasn't until flames shot up through the walls into the main dining room that the fire was discovered. There was no panic.

Firemen Handicapped

Two nearby buildings, Morris Lady's wear and the large Lawrence department store were saved by a valiant fireman who kept fighting equipment went into action. Firemen were delayed in fighting the blaze when fire in the cafe short-circuited a power line. As a result the general alarm was sounded with hand bells instead of by the modern electric siren.

Those made homeless were mostly employes of the cafe who had rooms above the two-storey building. Also made homeless was Mr. and Mrs. Charles Humber, the former proprietors of the jewelry store.

The cafe was well-known to servicemen from all over the dominion as it was one of the favorite eating places for soldiers and airmen who were stationed here and at Penhold during the war.

Pioneer Business

Humber's jewelry store was a pioneer business here. Mr. Humber having started his business in Red Deer nearly 40 years ago.

Stock from both the lady's wear shop and the Lawrence store was removed when it was thought the flames fanned by a strong wind, would spread. Flames were confined to the two buildings, the department store basement being later threatened by water from the fire hose. Damage was caused to some serious loss to stock in the store's basement.

Claim Russians Copy B-29 Bomber

BERLIN, (AP) — The French-licensed Berlin newspaper Kurier quoting dispatches from Paris said Monday the Russians are building copies of the American B-29 Superfortress bomber in factories east of the Urals.

The dispatches, attributed to "American air force intelligence" circles, said the Russians had put into service numerous Superfortresses which came down in Manchuria during the war and were using these as models in their own manufacture.

Manitoba Reaches Agreement With Ottawa on Tax Matters

ing the major portion of the burden in these negotiations. British Columbia, with large logging and mining interests at stake, may be expected to have a lot to say about these matters.

Automatic Benefits

However, in view of the "most-favored-province" clause which is a vital part of the basic agreement just completed, Manitoba automatically will benefit from any further concessions these other provinces may be able to negotiate with the dominion.

However, although Mr. Garson's statement politely refrained from saying so, little doubt has been left that the Manitoba government feels it has done successfully a tremendous amount of statistic-breaking spadework which will make the going easier for all other provinces which subsequently may sign agreements with the dominion.

That may well apply, particularly, to New Brunswick, which breezed into Ottawa recently, breezed out again, and announced that it had reached speedy agreement. The feeling among observers is that New Brunswick left a lot of the heavy word chopping to Manitoba.

OTTAWA, (CP) — Premier Garson of Manitoba and Provincial Treasurer Davis of Saskatchewan were on their way back to their respective capitals Monday with negotiations concluded for new tax agreements with the dominion government which, when finally approved, will extend for five years.

While Mr. Fines left the capital without making any statement on the agreement between Saskatchewan and the federal government, it was understood he planned to make a statement shortly after his arrival home.

That statement, it was learned, will be along almost indentical lines with a statement issued by Mr. Garson.

Replacing the 1942 taxation agreement, the new pacts follow weeks of negotiations between the provinces and Finance Minister Ilsley.

Premier Manning of Alberta is here holding "exploratory" discussions on the possibility of agreement similar to those of Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

Nova Scotia, Quebec and Ontario have not yet indicated whether they plan to accept the federal budget offer. Delegates are expected here for third cream from British Columbia and Prince Edward Island.

Plan Seek Uranium In Spitsbergen Trip

OSLO, Norway, (AP.)— Odd Dahl, Norwegian Scientist who recently returned from the United States, predicted Monday Norway would send an expedition to Spitsbergen to search for uranium deposits, but added he did not believe his country would participate in a "uranium race" in the Antarctic.

A spokesman for the Oslo Geological Institute said there would be no Norwegian expedition to the antarctic, where Norway holds sovereignty over vast territories, in competition with the American expedition planned by Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd.

Report 321 Dead In India Battles

By Walter J. Mason

HARISON, India, (AP) Twenty-seven persons—men, women and children—perished Monday night in a new outbreak of communal fury when a mob burned the Moslem quarter of this hamlet of about 500 within 15 miles of India's capital, Delhi.

Arriving at sunrise, I counted nine adults and 12 children whose bodies had been charred beyond woman and five children who either had suffocated or had been strangled. Most of the victims lay outside the ruins of mud houses, apparently after they had been struck down and covered with inflammables which then had been set afire.

Villagers told the district magistrate and police superintendent the mob attacked shortly after nightfall, storming the Moslem quarter, striking down the inhabitants and firing houses and bodies. One man estimated the assailants numbered about 100. Police could find only three living Moslem men among the villagers rounded up for preliminary investigation.

The savage slaying and burning constituted the sixth outbreak of Hindu-Moslem disorders since last Thursday in an area east of Delhi toward and beyond Meerut.

District Magistrate Shanker Prasad of Meerut told me the official figure on fatalities from the six outbreaks was 321.

NEW DELHI, (CP)— Mohandas K. Gandhi warned Hindus Sunday that unless attacks on Moslems in Bihar province were ended, the violence might "project into the day of independence."

Massacres were reported slaughtered Thursday at a fair in Garhmuktesshwar, where Hindu pilgrims bathe in the Ganges. Hindus in turn were killed in attacks on a train and bullock cart caravan from the Ganges town.

Gandhi said he had been criticized for his projected fast to the death in an effort to restore order, but commented:

"My proposed fast is not meant to coerce anyone. It is meant to quicken dead conscience into life."

People of Britain Honor War Dead

By Frank Swanson

LONDON— This heart of Empire remembered the dead of two wars Sunday.

Standing in golden haze of perfect autumn day, scores of thousands of Londoners joined His Majesty the King at the cenotaph to dedicate a new marble shaft which symbolizes all sacrifices, backdrops and sufferings of a great race.

Many of the noble and moving traditions of Armistice Day were carried forward to this first Remembrance day in Britain, which will be observed annually the Sunday before Nov. 11. There were differences too.

Again Whitehall was like a great cathedral, the atmosphere restrained and reverent. Different, too, was the mood of the people to that during noisy celebrations of victory. They came silently, as to church.

An inner chapel, with the austere memorial as its center, was formed by service detachments, members of the government and representatives of the Commonwealth.

Royal Family Present

A little before 11:00 o'clock, a slim figure in the khaki greatcoat of the A.T.S. with the three stars of a junior commandant, walked down the steps of Home office with the King, who wore the uniform of an admiral of the fleet. It was Princess Elisabeth.

Looking down from a window overhead was Her Majesty the Queen, Queen Mary, Princess Margaret, the Duchess of Kent—one of many young war widows there—Princess Alice and the Earl of Athlone. All the women in the Royal party wore Flanders poppies and all, except Princess Margaret, were in black.

Barely had the King stepped forward to pull the golden tasselled cord which unveiled new inscription commemorating the dead of the last war, saluted, and then stepped back, when the deep-toned chimes of Big Ben nearby and the crack of a gun on the Horse Guards parade ushered in two minutes silence. The great crowd stood motionless. The only sounds to be heard were rustle of leaves of Whitehall's trees and the distant rumble of a train.

Wreaths Placed

Then the Horse Guards gun fired again and brilliantly clear notes of R.A.F. trumpeters sounded the Last Post. The King then stepped forward and placed a wreath of poppies in the same place his father's wreath rested when the cenotaph was dedicated after the First Great War.

The King stepped back, saluted. He was followed by Princess Elisabeth who placed a wreath, then stepped back and saluted.

The quiet voice of the Archbishop of Canterbury prayed "that all who here do honor to the memory of the sacrifice of our brethren may be so filled with the spirit of their love and fortitude that, forgetting all selfish and unworthy aims, they may live only to Thy glory and to service of Thy people."

Now the King and his daughter returned to the Home office and detachments of ex-servicemen filed past the cenotaph to deposit wreaths. Their salute to their dead comrades was carried on all afternoon by thousands of men, women and children and on Sunday night long queu's of silent Londoners still filed silently past the memorial in drizzling rain.

London had not forgotten.

Heavily Guarded

The King and government leaders at the ceremony were guarded heavily following a reported threat by Irgun Zvai Leumi, the Jewish underground organization, to extend to Britain what Scotland Yard termed terrorism, the Canadian Press reported.

Special passes admitted newspapermen and others to the vicinity of the cenotaph and a close watch was kept on government buildings in the neighborhood.

Similar ceremonies were held throughout the Empire. Palestine, India, Gibraltar, South Africa, New Zealand and Australia all observed Sunday as Remembrance Day. Canada observed Monday— the traditional Nov. 11 date.

Elliott Roosevelt, son of the late president, and his wife, actress Faye Emerson, are shown as they boarded a trans-Atlantic plane at LaGuardia field, New York, bound for Stockholm, Sweden, on the first leg of a journey to Russia.

Thin Ice Brings Death to Three

BIRTLE, Man., (CP)—Two children and a 17-year-old youth drowned Sunday in two separate accidents within 30 minutes in this Manitoba village, 180 miles northwest of Winnipeg.

The children were Shirley Lee, eight, and her brother, Stewart, seven. The youth was Lynn Bowen. All drowned in a creek.

There were no witnesses to the drowning of the children but it was believed that the boy went out on thin ice to retrieve a football and when he fell through his sister attempted to save him. R.C.M.P. recovered both bodies about 90 minutes later.

The Bowen youth was skating when he broke through thin ice. His body was recovered 15 minutes later but all attempts to revive him were unsuccessful.

Unknown Infection Kills 57 Infants

RASKATOON, (CP) — Fifty-seven Infant deaths caused by bronchial-pneumonia and diarrhoea have occurred in the Saskatoon district this year, Dr. Arthur Wilson, medical health officer, said Friday.

Dr. Wilson said some "unknown infection" had caused the diseases, which he regarded as "far more important than poliomyelitis and something to worry about a good deal more."

Thirty-five of the cases occurred in the city and 22 in surrounding districts.

Mennonites Resume Flour Shipments

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP) — Resumption of gift shipments of flour overseas was announced Saturday by the central relief committee of the Mennonite church. The latest shipment amounted to 220 tons and brought the total dispatched during the last year to 100,000 tons.

The shipments were the first sent out since the spring, having been delayed by the maritime strike and a more rigid control on the export of flour.

Contributions from Mennonite and Brethren in Christ churches from all over Canada made the purchases possible. Shipments are sent directly to Europe and the distribution is adjusted to the needs of individual countries.

Lt.-Gen. Montague Retires from Army

TORONTO, (CP)—After paying tribute to the men and women of the Canadian army overseas who served under him, Lt.-Gen. F. J. Montague of Winnipeg Friday announced his retirement from the army after serving in two wars. His announcement came shortly after he had been granted an honorary degree of doctor of laws at the autumn convocation at University of Toronto, and ended briefly with a quotation from Housman: "Dead and living, drunk or dry, soldiers, I wish you well."

Briefly too, he urged there should be compulsory military service. "Having said that, I do not wish to press the point," he declared.

"I hope in the years to come this nation will see its way clear to send our regular officers to the imperial staff college and the defense college. I hope those with the proper qualifications who are not in the regular army are sent so they can qualify if another time ever comes."

Says Japs Moved As Defence Plan

MONTREAL (CP) — Veterans' Affairs Minister Mackenzie Friday told the McGill University Liberal club that the diffusion of Japanese on the Pacific coast was not a racial issue but a matter of defence policy.

He said the Japanese sent away from the coast province were enemies of the state.

"Do you know specifically of any instance where Japs were unpatriotic?" a McGill student asked.

"Definitely," the minister answered.

He described pensions as the inalienable right of war veterans and said the government at present is studying a request that higher educational benefits so as to bring them in line with higher living costs.

Study Use of Atomic Energy For War, Medicine, Industry

OTTAWA, (CP)— Canada is carrying on research on the application of atomic energy in war and in industry and on the use of its products in research and medicine, president C. J. Mackenzie reported Sunday in the 29th annual report of the National Research Council.

Recalling Canada's contribution of the materials that went into the first atomic bomb, the president recalled, too, the establishment of a special laboratory in Montreal which had a staff of 340, "by far the largest organization ever created in this country to carry out a single research project."

"Work of the laboratory was closely co-ordinated with the tremendous activity in this field in the United States. Its work led to design and construction of a pilot plant for the production of atomic bomb materials. The plant is located at Chalk River, Ont., about 120 miles west of Ottawa.

Study Application

"A branch of the research council has been established there in association with the pilot plant to carry out research on the application of atomic energy in war and in industry and on the use of its products in research and medicine."

On another phase of atomic research, Dr. Mackenzie said that in the physics laboratories one of the main objectives of work in radiology "is to develop new and better instruments for the radium industry to assist in the location of radioactive ores and the measurement of these ores and their products. New techniques have been developed for X-ray and radium radiography and research has been directed into the use of X-ray diffraction and electron microscopy to determine the properties of catalysts, pigments, rubber-compounding materials and many other products of interest to industry."

New House Heating

On another front, his report said the research staff was developing a new method of heating houses by floor or ceiling radiant-heat panels "and are endeavoring to ascertain the effect of window ventilation in severe weather if floors are heated."

"Part of this project concerns itself with the measurement of moisture in wheat and the speed with which this moisture moves from one part of the stored wheat to another. This problem is of considerable importance in connection with the preservation of stored wheat in elevators."

Two special houses have been erected outside Ottawa, to carry the housing experiments forward.

Improve Housing

Plans have been laid for the co-ordination of studies and the initiation of practical schemes for the improvement of housing in all its branches, including construction, plumbing, heating, lighting, ventilation, and the proper planning of projects with regard to their economic and social aspects.

Work is in progress on two models, one dealing with the problem of sandbar formations in the Fraser river of British Columbia, the other to investigate the forces acting upon an emergency gate for canals.

Dr. Mackenzie pointed to the wartime growth of a council that in 1939 had one central laboratory and now has 21 other laboratories across the country as well as temporary laboratories for cold weather work.

An explosive experimental establishment at Valcartier, Que., had become part of a large service organization. Naval research stations were located on both east and west coasts. Sizable radar laboratories were built near Ottawa. The staff now numbered 1,400 in the laboratories at Ottawa.

Argue Over Butter, Boy Kills Brother

PITTSBURGH, (AP) — Police said Charles Wickline, 16, was held Monday pending a coroner's investigation, into the breakfast table killing of his 14-year-old brother, Sherrill Wickline.

Police said Charles told them his thumb slipped as he pulled back the hammer of a revolver in an attempt to scare his younger brother while they argued over the butter at the breakfast table.

Police quoted Charles as saying when he asked Sherrill to pass the butter, the other said "you'll get it when I'm through with it." Charles retorted "then I'll take it," and drew the gun he was wearing in his holster.

The gun went off and Sherrill collapsed on the floor.

No Chain of Bases Planned By U. S. in Pacific Islands

HONOLULU, (AP)—The mandated Islands of the Pacific over which the United States is seeking to retain control contain no formidable chain of bases now, nor is any such chain planned, high American naval officers say.

Almost all of the wartime island bases seized from Japan today are rusting and crumbling into useless junk.

The request by the United States for control under a United Nations trusteeship would cloak any future military development with an inspection-proof curtain. Newspapermen who have just completed a three-week tour, however, learned that:

1. From a military standpoint, there's nothing much to look at, now; and

2. No plans are in evidence now for any elaborate chain of fortifications in the future, although Guam and nearby Saipan might become rather highly-developed bases.

The group visited Kawjalein, Majuro, Guam, Saipan, Okinawa, Peleliau, Truk, and Tsingtao (China), headquarters of the United States seventh fleet.

The one mandated island which seems highly important to American naval defence planning is Saipan—which, with United States-owned Guam, makes up the only major American base in the western Pacific.

Truk, Peleliau (Palau) and other Japanese strongholds of the war are being ignored as military bases. Their guns and pillboxes were destroyed and their temporary naval installations are rusting.

In general, the whole idea of fixed defences is "as dead as the dodo bird," Admiral John H. Towers, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet, told a press conference recently.

Even the United States navy's plans for a $1,300,000,000 development of Guam and Saipan are to be cut down "drastically," he said, although construction of a strong base at Guam, second only to Pearl Harbor in size and facilities, retains top priority. Since the island has been American property for 50 years, no United Nations discussions could hinder its defence future.

Canterbury Dean Praises Russians

LONDON, (CP) — Dr. Hewlett Johnson, the "Red Dean" of Canterbury, declared Friday that "Russia has attained a great moral achievement" because "every nationality is given an economic chance within the Soviet Union."

Simultaneously, Jennie Lee, socialist pamphleteer and wife of Health Minister Aneurin Bevan, declared that "it is not Russia that scares me, but that vast, irresponsible and obsolescent American."

Addressing a Socialist gathering, Miss Lee said Americans "don't know what they are doing to Europe today."

Dr. Johnson, addressing a meeting of the British Soviet society observing the 29th anniversary of the Red revolution, said Russia contained "a deep-rooted moral power equal to any known in the world"—a power which "is not going to be dominating, but benevolent to be used for the world's good."

HALIFAX, (CP)—Ordered by his physician to take a complete rest, Labor Minister Mitchell arrived here Friday with Mrs. Mitchell on their way to the West Indies. Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell expect to return about Christmas. It will be the minister's first vacation since 1939.

Mandate Given to Congress To Act on Nine Problems

By American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J. — If all the voters in the U. S. had had a chance to vote last Tuesday on foreign policy, strike control, taxes, military training and other vital issues facing the nation, how would they have voted?

While such a referendum actually was not held through official balloting, it was accomplished unofficially on American Institute poll ballots where voters were asked not only to state their preference for candidates, but also to give their views on the vital public issues of today.

The results indicate what sort of mandate the electorate has given the newly-chosen congress.

The accuracy of these informal referenda on issues was tested by the congressional election itself, with the Institute's forecast of the party division of popular vote coming within two percent.

Will of Majority

If the newly-elected house of representatives is truly to represent the will of the majority of voters, here is what the voters would like to see done.

1. Tuesday's election outcome was in no sense a mandate to change American foreign policy. It did not signify that the country is seriously divided over that policy. Polls have yielded strong evidence that the public solidly supports American policy of firmness to Russia and participation in the United Nations. In short, the marked Republican victory last Tuesday should in no way be interpreted as signifying a desire by the people to return to isolationism.

2. The country has given the new congress an unmistakable mandate to control and regulate strikes and labor unions. Surveys show that the public favors new laws to control labor unions; calling off all strikes for one year; prohibiting strikes in public utilities; a 30-day cool-off period before any strike can be called, with investigation of the issues during the waiting period; compulsory arbitration of labor disputes if labor and management cannot come to agreement by themselves. There is also widespread sentiment to outlaw jurisdictional strikes and to curb "featherbedding" or make-work practices by unions.

Universal Training

3. Universal military training in peacetime has the "go ahead" signal from the American people. Fourteen surveys conducted by the Institute on the peacetime training issue during the past three years all found sentiment in favor by a ratio of three to two or more.

4. The new congress has been given no clear mandate to reduce income taxes; in fact, a small majority of voters with opinions on the subject say they are in favor of delaying reduction of taxes until some of the public debt is paid off.

5. In spite of the unmistakable swing to the right politically which the election showed, the country has not swung away completely from social and economic reform. For example, voters have, in a sampling referendum, signified their approval of legislation to raise the minimum wage level of the country from the present 40 cents an hour to 65 cents.

6. Another desired reform is extension of social security to include groups not now covered by the act, such as farmers, government employes, professional and self-employed persons, domestic servants and others. Such extension has the approval of a large majority of voters.

No Clear Thought

7. The election cannot, however, be taken as a mandate to institute widespread government reforms in the field of health insurance. Public opinion polls have shown that public thinking is not yet crystallized on the question of government-sponsored medical insurance, but there is overwhelming sentiment favoring federal aid for the building of hospitals to be run by local medical authorities throughout the nation.

8. Tuesday's election was in no sense a criticism of U. S. military occupation policies abroad, nor did it mean that the voters want to "bring our boys home" from Germany or Japan. A recent test of public opinion found 80 percent of the country opposed to pulling U. S. troops out of Europe, and 81 percent opposed to removing them from Japan.

9. Relaxing of O. P. A. controls was very definitely in the minds of voters as they cast their ballots. Nearly a month before the election, polls found, the majority of Americans had arrived at the conclusion that everything except rent should be decontrolled.

Plan to Enforce Lumber Ceilings

OTTAWA, (CP) — A joint prices board-timber control statement Saturday said "immediate enforcement action" would be taken against any retail lumber merchant found to be ignoring price ceiling regulations in the sale of shingles.

The statement, issued by Board Chairman Donald Gordon and Timber Controller Terrence Flahiff, was prompted by Vancouver reports that several lumber yard operators were selling shingles there above new retail ceilings which they claimed cut their markup almost in half.

Curtain dealers in this (Vancouver) area are reported to have openly repudiated the board's price ceiling policy on the grounds that a recent prices board order had reduced the "retail profit on shingles," the statement said.

"This is entirely unwarranted. The order does not require any retailers to sell at a lesser dollar value than he formerly did."

Receipts for the first seven months were reported at $1,581,397,001 against expenditures of $1,401,987,359 while receipts for the corresponding period of the previous fiscal year were $1,541,026,367 and expenditures $2,464,562,188, leaving a deficit of $953,355,821.

For October, receipts were estimated at $237,128,753 and expenditures at $177,425,261 against $245,-359,896 and $316,728,425 respectively, in the corresponding month of the previous year.

Income and excess profits tax revenue for the April-October period was $62,914,775 lower than last year at $850,714,561. Revenue from war assets sales totalled $114,844,851 against $16,235,648 in the corresponding period last year. Interest on the public debt for the seven months same to $234,457,651 against $204,305,800.

Mystery Unsolved Of Train Murder

BUDAPEST, (AP) — The slaying of an elderly engineer believed to have been carrying plans of possible military importance remained unsolved Monday, more than a week after he was slugged in compartment No. 13 of an express train and thrown from a window.

Police are questioning other occupants of the carriage in which Alfred Rottman, 61, Hungarian national travelling for the Ingersoll Rand company, was riding. Authorities sought to learn the nationality of the person or persons who entered the compartment, beat Rottman, took all his baggage and hurled him from the window.

Rottman was believed to be carrying blueprints for Hungarian patents for the precision machinery concern he represented, and police said these plans may have had military value. The documents were believed to have been carried in a small black leather bag which apparently was among the stolen luggage.

East Veteran Dies In 'Suicide Pact'

TORONTO, (CP) — Matthew Graham, 28-year-old war veteran, died Sunday in a rooming house and his British war bride, Frances, was taken to hospital as the result of what police described as a suicide pact.

The landlady, Mrs. Mary Perkins, found the couple in their room. Hospital authorities described Mrs. Graham's condition as "critical."

Born in England, Graham came to Canada as a youth. He enlisted soon after war broke out and went overseas with the Saskatchewan Light infantry, with which he saw service in Sicily, Italy, France and Germany. He met his bride in Newcastle, England, during a leave in 1940 and married here in 1941.

Mrs. Graham reached Canada in mid-September to join her husband. Relatives said the couple had been extremely happy since their reunion.

Anglican Clergy Reply to Attacks

LONDON, (CP) — The National Union of Protestants was called a "threat to the continued existence of the Church of England" in a manifesto issued Friday by eight Anglican clergy of the Bath and Wells bishopric.

The union — formed during the war to combat what it calls "Romish" practices in the Church of England — recently has staged several noisy protests against mass in English churches.

The manifesto called the demonstrations an attack on the position of the Anglican church as a whole.

Report Jews Plan To Run Blockade

LONDON, (CP)—A colonial office spokesman said Saturday Britain is aware of reports of an impending large-scale attempt by Jewish refugees to run the Palestine blockade. He declined to discuss what measures Britain might be taking.

Britain recently requested that France move a camp for displaced Jews inland from the French coast. The British authorities said they had information that Jewish ships were loaded near the camp.

Senate Ends Probe Of Munitions Case

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Chairman Harley Kilgore (Dem.-W. Va.) of the senate war investigating committee said Saturday that as far as the committee is concerned the inquiry into the Garsson munitions case "is closed."

"The evidence has been tilrned over to the department of justice," he told reporters.

Asked whether Rep. Andrew J. May (Dem. Ky.), whose name figures in the war contracts case, would be called before the committee again, Senator Kilgore said:

"There is no evidence that May ever got a cent. If May wants to talk it is all right with us, but I don't want to put him on the stand and see him collapse."

Mr. May's doctors advised the committee several months ago that he could testify only 30 minutes at a time.

Predicts Government to Seek Control U.K. Town Planning

By James McCook

LONDON, (CP) — Far-reaching legislation giving the government power to guide town planning throughout the United Kingdom is expected to be one of the major items of business forecast in the speech from the throne opening the new parliamentary session Tuesday.

The throne speech also is expected to give plans for 18 months' compulsory military service for young men, and five years in the reserve.

The economic condition of the country likely will have a leading place in debates.

A forecast of further nationalization legislation also is expected, dealing with inland transport—railways, long-distance road haulage, docks and canals but not constal shipping — and the electrical industry.

Action to nationalize the gas industry is not in the immediate program; and a form of partnership with existing owners in the steel industry is anticipated for the time being although outright public ownership has been promised for sometime before the next general election in 1950.

Beginning its second session, the Labor government will continue its fast pace with legislation in the commons but Herbert Morrison as house leader is likely to plan business so that there will be a longer recess. Completion of sittings in July would give members three months at home instead of the two granted this summer.

An unusually heavy share of the legislative burden is expected to fall on the minister of town and country planning, Lewis Silkin. He is expected to sponsor a bill transferring to the central government the main burden of compensation for property taken over in town-planning projects.

HOSTELS PLANNED

They are Still Good Buying

So long as Canadians keep on buying savings bonds in substantial quantities the bonds will remain on sale. This was announced by the Minister of Finance when the tentative closing day arrived.

In the last half of October 670,691 buyers purchased bonds to the amount of $257,947,000. The inference is that applications will continue to pour in for some time at a good, though probably diminished, rate. All the reasons for buying a bond last month hold good now.

It was never said that these bonds were put on the market because the Government needed money. The main reason given was that the public needed and wanted a chance to put savings into such securities. Which, from the national standpoint, meant that it was advisable to encourage the retirement of surplus money from circulation. Else the pressure of frivolous spending on price ceilings might become dangerous.

Another point is worth noting. The more money is put into the national treasury in payment for the bonds, the less will have to be raised by taxation. Buying bonds is therefore one way to make tax-reduction possible, sooner and more rapidly than would otherwise occur.

There is room to suspect that some one in the finance department had this in mind when the bond sale was planned. The clamor for further and more substantial cuts in taxes —particularly income and corporation taxes —is loud and insistent. This demand can be more easily met if bond-money flows into the treasury in huge amounts.

In wartime half the national outlay was met by borrowing. Normally the whole outlay must be met out of taxation. Sale of savings bonds is a half-way measure which will ease and speed the transition. That is a substantial argument for buying, and buying heavily.

The World Wheat Crop

Information compiled by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics adds up to a total world wheat crop in 1946 of 5,900,000,000 bushels. This is the largest yield since 1940, but it is slightly below the 1935-39 average.

In Europe, outside the Soviet Union, there is an increase of 300,000,000 bushels over the 1945 figures. In North America the yield from Canadian fields is placed at 40 per cent above that of last year, the yield in the United States about 5 per cent above. Africa has produced 55 per cent more than in 1945. Argentina shows a moderate gain. But the Australian crop is light.

The needs of importing countries are estimated at from 800,000,000 to 1,100,000,000 bushels. In the United States, Argentina, Australia and Canada the carry-over from last year is given as 373,000,000 bushels.

Adding the carry-over to this year's production, the wheat available for consumption is less than it was a year ago. Until the 1947 crops ripen, world needs will have to be met mainly from grain grown during the present year. But import figures indicate that the carry-over at next midsummer may be substantially more than it was at the cut-off date three months ago.

As an item on the other side of the calculation it may be noted that poor weather interfered with harvesting operations in western Canada. On this account the 440,000,000 bushel estimate for Canada may be found excessive, for an indeterminate proportion of the grain will grade as feed rather than as suitable for grinding into flour.

What this world summary implies in the way of higher or lower prices is anybody's guess. There is less wheat in sight than there was a year ago, but apparently more than enough to meet the demand until 1947 grain starts to come on the market in quantity. Price predictions would seem to hinge on what kind of weather the prophets expect next summer.

Boomerang at Moscow

Premier Stalin did not turn up, as he usually does, to make the speech of the day when Moscow staged its celebration of the Soviet anniversary. The oratory was supplied by Col-Gen. Andrei A. Zhdanov, chairman of the Supreme Soviet. Whether the chairman was asked to substitute for Mr. Stalin, or just brushed the premier aside and stepped into the spot-light, is not explained and outsiders are left to surmise. The substitution was notable enough to suggest something had gone on behind the iron curtain.

In any case Andrei seems to have had a good time and let himself go with fine disregard to obvious facts and possible reactions. He denounced Britain and the United States with cheer-provoking enthusiasm, and wound up by declaring, "The blood of our people was not shed for imperialist expansionists and pretenders to world domination."

This drew "thunderous" applause. The despatches do not say whether Zhdanov found the applause pleasing or embarrassing.

If that was not what Russian soldiers shed their blood for, what means the annexation of part of Finland, the four Baltic States, half Poland; the setting up of dummy governments in Czechoslovakia, Romania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia; the demand on Turkey for control of the Dardanelles; the big-stick policy in Iran?

If this isn't "imperialist expansion" and "domination," then there is no part of the world where these policies are being pursued by any power.

Whether he knew it or not, Andrei threw an oratorical boomerang, which sailed right back to where it started from. Maybe that was why his hearers cheered. They may have been trying to tell him that Russia shouldn't be doing the things he condemned.

Hospitable

The fatuous hospitality of Canada is excitingly illustrated in the manner in which Paul Robeson, an alien singer, is permitted to come into this country and abuse the British Empire, of which the Dominion is no inconsiderable part.

Mr. Robeson, has been busy criticising all things British since some fifteen or more years ago, when it is rumored it was made clear to him from very high quarters that he was not overly welcome in England, because of his alleged behaviour.

Apparently he excelled himself in Quebec City the other day when his fulminations against the British Empire took the form of declaring that this commonwealth of nations is the "greatest enslaver of human beings in the world."

Of course, Mr. Robeson chose the safest place in Canada to spout such nonsense, being among many who agreed with him. Nevertheless, Quebec City is still part of Canada, and Canada is still part of the Empire, and some federal authority should have reminded him that although, as his English adventures prove, we do not expect much from him in the way of good taste, we do expect a reasonable amount of respect for the political institution under which he happened to be living at the moment.

Mr. Robeson is undoubtedly a great artist and has contributed much to the spiritual delight of the world. But if he still cannot behave, as a guest in a country should behave, Canadians will probably be able to worry along from now on without the benefit of his genius.

Politeness is as much a part of culture as the strains of a lovely voice.

THE TIMID SOUL

by Webster

Why Fear Plenty?

By Elmore Philpott

NEW YORK: Nobody should underestimate the importance of the UN Assembly. Few believers in democracy would belittle the future effects of the elections in the U.S. Yet, even as I sit watching the Assembly in action, I ask myself: Is this as important as what is happening to cotton, wool and rubber?

In Ottawa the other day I went around to the Australian office to get the latest facts and figures about the world wool surplus. It is even better (or worse according to how you look at it) than I had previously reported in this column. More than four billion pounds of wool is held in an international wool pool. L. order to keep prices from falling too far, this wool is to be dribbled into world markets over a period estimated at 13 years.

Yet here in New York, as from coast to coast in Canada, there is still an acute scarcity of all kinds of woollens.

To me it doesn't make sense—especially when both sides of the border governments are shouting their heads off about the danger of inflation.

INFLATION COMES when the people have too much money, and when there are too few goods for sale in the stores. Why not get busy getting wool into the stores? Why let that international Wool pool, known as JO (Joint Organization) hold back supplies and hold up prices?

They again closed the cotton markets here last week, because cotton prices had fallen another ten dollars a bale. That news is hailed in Washington with headshaking, as of a disaster. The fact is they should be putting on a national celebration of joy.

Being almost shirtless, after the long war, I was on the lookout for some plain white ones here in the world's main market place. My half-Scottish ancestry rebelled at the idea of paying $4.98 for one plain white shirt. One store put on a sale here today with good plain white shirts at $2.40. To get rear that counter you would need Joe Louis, Molotov and a bulldozer or two.

Yet the high authorities at Washington and London are seared stiff at the danger of falling prices in wool, cotton, rubber.

There is another conference in London these days called ITO, or International Trade Organization. ITO has just won a resounding victory over FAO—which means Food and Agricultural Organization.

JUST A month ago FAO met in Denmark and promulgated what looked like a new deal for farmers of all the world. He aim to be guaranteed markets for his produce at or above prices fixed when he began the production process. Now that's all off and the ITO plan is to apply to city producers and farmers alike. That's just another way of saying that the farmer will be out of luck.

Cables from London today say that experts at ITO are very much alarmed at the pending fall in commodity prices. The Times reports: "The British are urging prompt negotiation of international commodity agreements to forestall a fall in world prices."

Surely there is no greater insanity than the policy of deliberately trying to keep up prices of the basic necessities of life at a time when there is greater consumer need than ever before for those commodities.

NOT LONG AGO the natural rubber producers of the world got together at Singapore and set up what they called the Combined Rubber Association. The first act was to peg rubber prices at 23½ cents, for Singapore. The ink was hardly dry on the agreements before large U. S. buyers were able to make a deal with Dutch concerns for rubber in large quantities at 20¼ cents.

There is an acute need for all the hold-back wool, cotton, rubber and such like. So long as there is one shivering child in Europe dying of tuberculosis because there is no fuel in the house—so long cannot talk of a "wool surplus." So long as you can't buy a plain white shirt in New York or a plain pair of cotton shorts in Canada, it is an insult to talk of holding up prices.

Let them come down where they belong.

The Leaf Burner

By Bruce Hutchison

For Christopher Morley I have always held a special sort of reverence as the man who "blows from the slipping suds of life, his bubbles of fragile glee," and yet in his spare time has laid down many solid bricks of art with a talent as many-sided and opaline as a well-cut prism. A prism, yes, of many gleaming facets, but with a flaw. Alas, I find Morley is a leaf burner.

WHEN MOST MEN approach the autumn chore of raking leaves it is a dull labor, usually postponed until the leaves are moist and heavy, all of the crisp spirit soaked out of them, all the magic sodden in decay. As one would expect of such a joyous, bounding spirit, Morley rakes his leaves not only with sheer physical pleasure but with a philosopher's understanding of this autumn rite:

That is what I like about
raking leaves—
It is wine and opiate for
the mind:
The incessant skirmish of the
wits is calmed.
And as you rake and burn
And dodge, with smarting eyes
The pungent, veering reek,
You fall into a dull easy muse
And think to yourself:
After all, what is writing
Books but raking leaves?

This is charming rhyme and rankest heresy. For by his own confession, this poet who deeply understands and passionately worships nature commits the great autumnal crime against her—he burns his leaves. How many millions of North Americans have burned with him this autumn, and how many billion innocent leaves?

WHAT A WASTE of soil and nutriment is here, a miniature devastation in every backyard to match our ravening progress and devastation across this North American land. It takes no poet to understand that. The most illiterate gardener, learned in matters more important than letters, knows that leaves piled up in autumn, packed down by winter snow and distilled by summer sun, make an unequalled food for plants of every sort. Why if Morley were here today I could show him a poem written in oak leaves, a very saga of heaped - up compost—nay, a history in sublimest form, layer on layer to mark the passing years of my gathering, each layer heavy with recollection, and now all acrumble in the rich, fibrous stuff of growth. All this, in due time, when it is mellowed like old wine, will be poured gently on my garden. Morley's plants will be fed on printed verse. Robust and spicy as that verse will be, it is food for men, not plants. My plants, I warrant, will thrive better.

BUT, OF course, the chemistry of this process is the least part of it. A man may rob the soil every autumn, he may abduct and burn the tree's fluttering children, the posterity on which its life depends, but he can replace it, perhaps, by importing new earth and spreading expensive chemicals, though with a net loss to the productivity of this planet. I do not wish to press the charge of wantoness and theft too far. The real indictment of the leaf burner is something deeper, and when I come to consider this I must confess I am disappointed in Morley. Ignorant men may not understand this matter, but a poet of subtle and parabolic insight should know better.

Down Bow Lane

By Frank B. Walker

LONDON: The Canadian occupation of Britain ended months ago but signs of the presence of the Canadians are still visible. They can be found, for example, in the Watling Arms, at the intersection of Watling street and Bow Lane in the city of London.

Watling street is as old as the Romans and ends in Chester. The Watling Arms dates back only to 1656 but it was the end of the road for many Canadian fliers who liked its dark, oaken beams, good beer and companionship.

Next door to the Watling Arms is the barber who restored many a weary traveller with steaming towels and spiral massages and was even known on the odd occasions to return his clients from leave in a condition almost as good as when they arrived.

THE BACK room at the Watling Arms is not the same as it used to be. Now, when the little brass bell over the bar tinkles "Time" there is no move into its convenient seclusion with Molly pouring out the beer and sneaking it through the serving hatch.

One house down beyond the barber shop is the church of St. Mary Aldermary against the background of which many photos were taken which now adorn Canadian homes and a little farther off is St. Mary's of Garlic Place where the old abbot who died in the 13th century still stands guard in a state of wonderful preservation. He, too, was a victim of the blitz.

ONLY ONE or two skeletons of buildings remain between Bow Lane and St. Paul's. But wild flowers are growing in the ruins and the steam roller of destruction has opened up the cathedral in all its beauty.

Meanwhile at the Watling Arms the stuff, though weaker, is still good.

AN ODD NOTION

Vancouver Sun

Why and how the notion grew popular that a blaring juke-box, filling restaurants with someone else's choice of raucous sound, should be a necessary part of public eating is hard to imagine. It definitely is not restful; it frequently makes conversation impossible except in shouts, and it is essentially selfish in that one person is allowed at the cost of five cents to decide what everyone else shall listen to whether they want to or not.

"ACCIDENTAL"

St. Thomas Times-Journal

If one hunter shoots a man and kills him it is invariably written down as an unfortunate accident and no charge is laid. The stupid hunter is sympathized with instead of blamed.

If hunters knew that every shooting of that kind, fatal or otherwise, would be followed by certain prosecution, there would soon be a diminution in the number of such "accidents". There is no more reason for letting a hunter off than any other man who is guilty of culpable negligence — which is a euphemism for crass stupidity.

The Road Ahead

By Harper Prowse, MLA

We have discussed some of the mistakes we have made in the handling of our immigration problems. Today let us discuss the courses of action which will enable us to avoid repeating those mistakes.

In the first place we should decide what kind of immigrants we need. To do this we must know why we need them. We must have some idea of what we intend to do with them and where we intend to put them when they arrive.

It would be well to remember at this point that settling immigrants in colonies has not worked out too happily. To bring them out as individuals might mean that they would be distressingly lonely when they arrived. Therefore it seems sound to suggest that we should bring them out in groups of not more than three or four families and scatter them around so that they will be forced to learn Canadian customs and habits.

IN THIS WAY we would pick up from them those parts of their culture which are acceptable to us. We should go out of our way to help them to fit into our communities, to learn our ways, and make them feel wanted and welcome. This would lead to a speedier assimilation of them and their families into the Canadian pattern of life.

In order to balance our economy we should bring out a balanced mixture of laborers, agricultural workers, technicians, tradesmen, craftsmen and artisans, professional men, businessmen and industrialists. It would be a very simple matter to loot Europe of many of her highly specialized industries today—industries which could be carried on in Canada just as satisfactorily as elsewhere. Industries which would help to round out our economy and insure a high level of employment. We are short of trained men in every line of endeavor and our need of them is just as great, if not greater than our need for unskilled labor.

We should scatter these people through every community in Canada. We should do this as a deliberate policy in order to prevent this country from becoming another Europe, broken up and divided into districts peopled exclusively or chiefly by people of the same nationality.

THEN WE should have a policy of education designed to make Canadians out of these people as quickly as possible. This is going to require the wholehearted cooperation of the nativeborn Canadians. In this regard we should guard against the tendency, all too common, for us to consider ourselves as "super-men" or a sort of "master race." We should remember how silly this theory sounded when Hitler preached it. Let us not make the same mistake he made—and the German people fell for.

If we look at the problem realistically, from the national point of view, and act accordingly the problem will cease to be a problem. But if we try to "muddle through" we will only pile up more trouble for the future.

THE ALASKA HIGHWAY

Editor, Bulletin — Kindly allow me to offer the appreciation and thanks of residents of the Peace River district of British Columbia for the splendid article by Mr Harper Prowse, MLA, regarding this nbrthland, except for two slight errors he made.

One was when he said where Alberta and B.C. controlled the Alaska highway. The fact is that the Alaska highway started on the eastern boundary of Dawson Creek and at a place where a post was erected as Mile "0" and from where all distances on the highway were measured, and is not in any way under the Alberta government or province as it is entirely within the boundaries of British Columbia.

The other small error is excusable. The whole length of the Alaska highway is in a splendid state for comfortable travel, having been graded both ways except the first mile of the highway which constitutes the length of 1st street, Dawson Creek, or as it is sometimes called, Railway avenue, a most deplorable disgraceful piece of the highway, ungraded, full of chuck holes and one of the broadest used roads in the north, yet entirely neglected.

He also did well with some he showed and sold at Calgary bringing home $702 from the proceeds of nine.

What pleased him best 'is the record made by one litter of 11 pigs. Adding what he sold at both, he got $1,098 for nine head. The 10th is a market hog worth $30 and the other, retained for breeding, was the pick of the young sows in the litter.

The pigs have ranged pasture in a herd of 50, lived in colony houses, fed at self-feeders on chop with the right sort of supplements added. Four years ago Mr. Wyllie imported some quality stock from Ontario and has bred closely for bacon type.

Dawson Creek to Have New Union Bus Terminal

DAWSON CREEK, B. C. — Construction on a new union bus terminal at an approximate cost of $20,000 will be started here as soon as materials are available. The proposed site is one block from the centre of town. Blueprints have been drawn and the construction of the depot will follow the same lines as the most modern bus stations in the United States.

Facilities will be available for all bus lines operating in and out of Dawson Creek. In the plans there are provisions for a central truck freight terminal where all trucks will be able to load freight instead of driving from warehouse to warehouse and picking it up themselves. A local cartage and distribution service, a baggage and parcel checking room also is included in the plans.

An information and tourist travel bureau is one of the most important features in this new terminal. Information will be available as to schedules, tickets, maps, etc., covering the whole of Canada and the United States.

At the present time the management are remodelling the building that is on the site to use as to temporary bus terminal.

Ralph Williamson, the manager, has had extensive experience in the freight and bus business, having worked two years with Canadian Freightways Ltd. and four years with Western Canadian Greyhound Lines, in both the traffic and operations department.

Untimely Signal Blamed for Death

CALGARY, (CP) — An untimely signal Thursday to hoist a concrete-hauling bucket at a building under construction at the Canada Malting Company, in east Calgary, has been blamed in the death of 26-year-old Andrew Kosack. The victim died Friday from multiple head and chest injuries.

Kosack, a truck driver-laborer for the Commonwealth Construction company, was crushed between the heavy bucket and a wooden tower when the bucket was being drawn upward. He was on the ground greasing guide boards in the tower, which hold the concrete-carrying vessel in line, when the hoist signal was given.

Kosack is survived by his parents and a brother and sister, all in Libau, Man.

Night Supervisor Beth Baldwin examines Ernest. In addition to internal injuries, Ernest's right side suffered most. His right hand was broken.

DISENFRANCHISED — Observing election rules, Poochie impatiently waits outside the election booth as his master votes in Chicago. The pet apparently wants to be a part of the electorate too.

MECHANIZED FORCE—It's harvest time in the corn country, and Pearl Kleen, a farmer's daughter in El Paso, Ill., gets the job of driving the trailer-train to the corn elevators. There the ears are shelled, the corn is separated and graded. This tractor-drawn train has five well-loaded cars. This year, to handle the bumper crop of corn, huge gasoline powered pickers were employed.

OLDEST VOTER—Harry Bennett, 106, Philadelphia's oldest voter, pauses for a photographer before drawing curtain and casting his secret ballot in a local polling place. The order also maintains a completely outfitted pharmacy from which free medicines are dispensed.

Play Canadians and Capitols

BRANDON JUNIORS COMING FOR TWO EXHIBITION GAMES

Brandon Elks will be here next week-end for a two-game exhibition series with Canadians and Capitols, the two junior entries in the City Hockey League.

First will be Saturday night against the Canadians, while the Capitols will supply the opposition for the Manitobans no Monday, both games start at 8:30.

ELKS, WHO DEFEATED Saskatoon juniors 4-0 Saturday night are generally looked upon as forming Manitoba's strongest bid in the western Memorial Cup playdowns this season, having several of last year's club bolstered by seven ex-Winnipeggers sent in by the parent Minneapolis club of the United States League.

The series is sponsored by Edmonton District Hockey Association and the proceeds over and above the heavy guarantee required, will go to assist junior, juvenile, midget and bantam hockey in the city. President Art Potter advises that special provision is being made for the accomodation of out-of-town patrons.

Game All Over For Saskatoon After 1st Heat

Held on even terms for the first period, Edmonton Flyers took over in the second and eventually furnished 8-4 in front of Saskatoon Elks before 5,700, in a Western Canada Senior Hockey League fixture at the arems here Saturday night.

Although moving along at a good tempo for the first two canto, the game dragged in the third, but it lifted Flyers into a three-way tie with Regina Caps and Saskatoon, all three clubs being just a single point ahead of Calgary and Lethbridge, where Elks play tonight.

FREDDY SMITTEN with a pair, was the only player to secure more than one goal, for he was in a wide distribution of Flyer points and seven participating for Saskatoon. Captain Elmer Kreller had one of the goals, but he also had four assists.

Saskatoon opened the scoring but Flyers had held an early edge, one of Bill Brennan's saves being a honey from Bob Solinger only seconds after the start. Johnny Black, who made a fine impression in his initial senior effort, hit a goal - post after being penalitully set up by Bing Merluk on a nifty two-way thrust.

Black was injured and left the game in the final period. He sustained a deep gash just below the right eye which necessitated five stitches.

NESTER LUBECK gave the Elks a lead in a puss from Gordon Buttrey, who had received the puck from Glen Richardson.

With Gordon Watts off for a tripping midway in the period, Flyer defence held tight, only one shot reaching Ken McAuley.

Edmonton tied the count at 14:41, Solinger leisurely starting off from behind his own blue on what looked at first to be a friendly visit to the enemy. However, he later was joined by Kreller, who even tually set up his team-mate for the equalizer.

FLYERS WENT ahead to stay on Merluk's early tally in the second. Following a faceoff in Elks territory, Black got the puck back to Barker, who returned it along the boards to Black in the corner and Johnny passed to Merluk.

Best action of the entire game developed about half way through the period with the Stanley-Devicq-Thomas line turning on the heat. Even Solinger took a hand, Devicq did score from Cy Thomas at 9:09, but Brennan had shots coming at him from all directions. The trio received an ovation from the crowd when they left the ice.

ELKS WERE outclassed, Rouse being off for hooking Black, when Johnny Dutchak scored on a breakaway with Buttrey to cut the count to 3-2, but Pringle got the goal in less than a minute with the help of Kreller and Solinger, just as Rouse was ready to leave the penalty box.

Edmonton held a one-sided margin on the play in this period, the actual shots on goal being 16 to 4.

ELKS STARTED the final period with a rush, McAuley having quick saves from Jenkins and Livingstone, but the rally was only a flash. Flyers soon added two more, Smitten and Kreller being the marksmen, and then coasted.

Fenn did get Jenkins' rebound past McAuley, but Smitten's backhander from Solinger raised the score to 7-3. Kreller passed to Watt for the last Edmonton goal and Livingstone tipped in Hulme's shot, both in the last minute.

Flyers outshot Elks 17 to 8 in the period and 42 to 19 in the game.

Army, Notre Dame Battle to 0-0 Draw

NEW YORK, Nov. 11—(CP)—The biggest buildup in the United States football history boiled down to a stalemate Saturday, but none among the 75,000 fans massed in Yankee Stadium for the annual Army-Notre Dame classic needed a money-back guarantee.

So evenly matched were these traditional college rivals in their 32nd meeting that the 0-0 standoff seemed a perfect answer to the old question about what happens when an irresistible force meets an immovable object.

BEFORE wild-eyed spectators who paid up to $200 for pasteboards legitimately worth $4.80 and $7.80, the top teams of the college conferences battered and slashed at each other relentlessly for 60 tense minutes, and when it was over the national championship remained a toss-up.

Two mighty lines bent and buckled occasionally under dynamic offenses powered by Army's Doc Blanchard, Junior Davis and Arnold Tucker and by Johnny Lujack and Terry Cowhig for the fighting Irish, but when danger threatened the front walls held like iron.

U.S. Asks 18 Key Countries Attend Tariff-Cutting Talks

By Peter Ingle

WASHINGTON, — Comfort for Canadians and others all over the world who have been worried about the United States returning to isolationism in one field—international trade—under its new Republican congress was offered at the week-end by the state department.

It took the form of an announcement that the most extensive negotiations ever undertaken under the Reciprocal Trade Agreements act of 1934 will be launched next spring.

Subject of the negotiations:

Mutual reductions of tariffs on several thousand items of international trade, between the United States on the one side and 18 countries scattered all over the face of the world on the other.

The countries:

Canada, the United Kingdom, Australia, Belgium, Brazil, China, Cuba, Czechoslovakia, France, India, Lebanon, Luxemburg, the Netherlands, New Zealand, Norway, the Union of South Africa and the Soviet Union.

All except the Soviet already have accepted invitations to the conference, which, it is hoped, will start in Geneva in April. Russian acceptance is hoped for.

The intention of the talks was underlined by President Truman in a statement accompanying the state department's announcement:

"They are central to the structure of international economic co-operation under the United Nations . . .

"They are necessary to achieve the objectives of the Atlantic Charter . . . , (and) to strengthen and support the foundations of the international monetary fund and the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development and to pave the way for the kind of economic world envisaged in the suggested charter for an international trade organization."

The president's statement neatly removed the issue of tariffs from its old spot in the field of domestic policy, and deposited it in the sphere of foreign policy, in which the Republican and Democratic parties are united.

Nevertheless, there was an immediate, if faint, rumble of distant thunder from the Republican party.

Senator W. Henry of Nebraska (the man who teamed with Senator Taft as chief foe of the O.P.A. at the last session of congress) and who announced this week-end he will go to Europe to investigate what's happened to all the food the United States have shipped there) said Republicans in the senate "will want to study" the proposed tariff cuts.

Although disclaiming any Republican intention to scuttle the trade agreements act he said "some action" might follow any arbitrary tariff reductions which his party might consider lacking in justification.

A German worker is shown repairing damage to the Stuttgart de-Nazification court, one of three American military government buildings damaged in bombings in the area Oct. 31. Officials described the attack as the first organized aggressive German underground activity in the American zone since the end of the war. This was the first of eight days of terrorist outbreaks.

Asks Outlawing Of Atomic Bomb

WINNIPEG, (CP)—A more practical application of Christianity in national and interntion affairs would bring the world closer to a solution of its political problems, Dr. C. G. Warren of Wolfville, N.S., president of the Baptist federation of Canada, told the church's national convention here Friday.

"The world today is trying to live by bread alone. This is impossible. We must combine the spiritual with the material if we are to succeed in solving any of the problems which are besetting the world."

Dr. Warren, dean of theology at Acadia university, advocated outlawing of the atomic bomb.

Company Executive G.S. Kilbourn Dies

TORONTO, (CP)— Widely-known Canadian businessman, George Strike Kilbourn of Owen Sound, Ont., died Sunday in hospital here. He was a director of the Excelsior Life Insurance Company of Toronto and of the Northern Bolt, Screw and Wire Company, Ltd., and vice-president of the Kilbourn Company, Ltd., both of Owen Sound.

Secretary-treasurer of the Owen Sound Portland Cement company at the time the Canada Cement company took over the firm, he went to Calgary as plant manager for Canada Cement.

During the First Great War he was manager of the Canadian Malleable Shell Syndicate in Owen Sound and later became first president of Canadian Refractories. He retired in 1939 to become chairman of the board.

Claim Unions Make U.K. Wage Truce

LONDON, (CP)— Trade unions representing more than 3,000,000 British workers have reached "a secret agreement" under which they will abide by a wage truce "expected to last 12 months" the Daily Graphic reported Friday.

The newspaper, which said the agreement was reached Thursday added: "Union leaders recognize that the working man will derive little benefit from further wage increases until there are more goods in the shops. It is felt that increased production will reduce prices and purchasing power will increase accordingly."

The Daily Graphic said it is "not yet clear" whether the workers will support the action of the unions.

TORONTO, (CP)— If Canadian labor enjoyed the same protection as labor in Great Britain and had assurance that deferring wage demands now would mean improved living standards later, it would probably agree to a one-year wage truce, C. H. Millard, national director of the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O) said Friday.

Tornado Strikes Louisiana State

NEW YORK, (CP)—A heavy blanket of snow—in some places as much as 16 inches—covered some portions of the United States Monday and in the south at least one person was dead after an unseasonable tornado.

In other parts of Louisiana, rain and some winds were noted, with Baton Rouge reporting a wind velocity of 40 miles an hour. Unseasonably warm weather had been reported over most of the south.

The snow covered Colorado, Nebraska, Iowa, South Dakota, central Minnesota and northern Wisconsin. Moving eastward, the storm went into upper Michigan and was expected to bring rain to New York and the New England States Monday.

BEAUTY CONTEST WINNERS: Above are the two University of Alberta co-eds who will represent their Alma Mater at the western universities' beauty contest at Vancouver next Saturday. Above is Rosalie McHaffie of Edmonton; below is Norma Shearer, Black Diamond. They were chosen by a board of five judges from 22 contestants at a university dance on Saturday night.

May Make Representations to Ottawa

City Concerned Over Proposal To Drop North Air Control

City commissioners Saturday were instructed by city council to make immediate inquiries into the rumored discontinuance of air control on a section of the Edmonton to Fairbanks air route, and if necessary, to call a special meeting of council to make special representations to Ottawa authorities against the proposed change.

DIRECTION to make inquiries was made at the inaugural meeting of council after Aldermen F. J. Mitchell and James H. Ogilvie had pointed out that the discontinuance of the air control on this route would be extremely detrimental to the city's airport, and might result in Edmonton being sidetracked from the round-the-world route.

Mayor Harry Ainlay stated that the next year would be a very interesting one in the city's development if materials and manpower were available. He said that there were petitions for paving amounting to more than $2,000,000 on hand, and also that many civic projects would be carried through to completion during the year.

ALDERMEN J. MUNRO, J. B. Gillies and C. E. Gariepy, KC., were appointed members of the nomination committee to report on the standing committees of council, and appointments to the different civic boards.

U of A's Fairest to Compete at Coast

Rosalie McHaffie, Norma Shearer Chosen Top University Beauties

Two lucky university co-eds were chosen Saturday night to represent the University of Alberta at the inter-varsity beauty contest to be held in Vancouver on Saturday, Nov. 16. The two lovelies adjudged the fairest on the Alberta campus are Miss Rosalie McHaffie of Edmonton and Miss Norma Shearer of Black Diamond, Alberta. Both girls are in their freshman year at the university.

CHOSEN from among 22 captivating contestants - a 23rd having been unable to compete - glamorous winners were "surprised and thrilled" by the honor of being declared "most beautiful female students." Neither girl had intended to enter the contest and Miss Shearer had planned to go to her home in southern Alberta for the week-end.

Miss McHaffie, 19 years old, is fond of outdoor activities, such as hiking, cycling and skating. She is interested in dramatics and has acted in high school plays. She attended Westmount intermediate and Westglen high schools. Born in England, she came here when she was two and a half years old and has lived here ever since. She is a first year arts student.

Miss Shearer, also 19, and a student in nursing, is fond of bowling, dancing, skating and sports in general. Born at Arrowwood in 1927 on Hallowe'en night, she moved with her family when she was three years old, to Black Diamond. Her father is principal of Turner Valley high school. She attended that school and later Mount Royal College in Calgary before enrolling at the University of Alberta.

The two beauties will be flown to Vancouver on Thursday, Nov. 14 to help settle the controversy of whether or not prairie co-eds are better looking than those attending the coast university. At Vancouver the girls will have a suite at the Hotel Vancouver. They will attend teas, a football game, dances, and a grand ball before the final judging on Saturday, Nov. 16. The events are scheduled to show off the girls as much as possible.

THIS CONTEST of campus comeliness was precipitated last week by seven Regina male students now attending U.B.C. who stated that they were unable to find pulchritude in Vancouver anywhere near comparable to that decorating the prairie universities. Disagreeing strongly with such opinion, the University of British Columbia challenged other western varsities to a showdown and was immediately accepted by the U's of Alberta, and Manitoba. Even the University of Toronto has become interested, but as yet has not reported any entries.

Saturday night's competition was the local elimination for Alberta, and was feature attraction at a campus dance held in the varsity drill hall. Over 1,000 admiring spectators witnessed the contest.

Five judges officiated - Hon. A. L. Hook, provincial secretary and minister of economic affairs, Mayor Harry Ainlay, Dr. P. S. Warren, university provost, C. E. Garnett, president of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce, and B. C. Hollingshead, manager of McDermid Limited.

THE 22 LOVELY entrants underwent the most rigid inspections of beauty and personality. First paraded before the hordes of students, the cream of campus beauties were introduced to the judges individually, spoke with them and spent some time with each, were exhibited before the dance crowd once more, and were compared by the judges again and again.

So difficult was it to choose among their individual charms and graces that one judge is reported to have said, "It's one of the toughest jobs I've ever had." From the semi-finalists including Muriel Strickland, Margaret Sproule, Jean Clinie, Eleanor Whitbread, and Denise Moret were chosen queens of pulchritude Rosalie McHaffie and Norma Shearer.

A PRESENTAT ON will be made to the two reigning charmers on Wednesday, Nov. 13 by the Waunelta Society, official girls' organization on the campus.

Guests present included Mrs. P. S. Warren, Mrs. C. E. Garnett, Mrs. B. C. Hollingshead, and Miss Mamie Simpson, adviser to women students. Miss Simpson's comment on the occasion was "Since boys will be boys, I guess girls will be girls."

The entrants in the contest consisted of Rosalie McHaffie, Edmonton; Norma Shearer, Black Diamond; Denise Moret, Edmonton; Elaine Wagner, Edmonton; Ellen Anne Millard, Calgary; Hazel McKaskie, Calgary; Boyne Johnston, Lethbridge; Esther Rubin, Edmonton; Kays Hicks, Vegreville; Elaine MacLean, Pincher Creek; Iris Thorogood, Victoria, B. C.; Jean Clinie, Edmonton; Muriel Strickland, Edmonton; Mimi Ingersol, Calgary; Elva Pearson, Edmonton; Shirley Wilson, Lacombe; Sue Saucier, Calgary; Eleanor Whitbread, Calgary; Margaret Sproule, Edmonton; Nancy Johnson, Edmonton; Myrnie Sands, Westlock; and Catherine Dickie, Calgary. Nine Edmontonians and six Calgarians are included in the above.

NURSES AND ART students were numerous, with seven from each of these faculties entered.

Committee in charge of the beauty competition and dance were Lillian Gehrke, Bruce Burgess, Bob Phillips, and Dick Sherbaniuk.

Citizens Honor Fallen At Church Services

Tribute to the fallen warriors of two wars was paid by Edmonton citizens Sunday, at special Remembrance Day services held in various churches throughout the city.

IN ALMOST every city church, congregations heard sermons based on St. John's words, "Greater love hath no man than this, than that he lay down his life for his friends."

At First Presbyterian Church, where special services were held both in memoriam to Canada's war dead, and in observance of the 63th anniversary of the founding of the church in Edmonton, a large congregation heard a stirring challenge from a guest preacher, the Rev. J. A. Munro.

A FORMER PADRE in the army chaplain services, and now superintendent of western missions for the Presbyterian Church of Canada, Mr. Munro spoke of the "time" that had been bought for us, by our soldiers who have lost their lives in battle.

He pointed out that it was up to us to cherish and make the most of this time so dearly bought by our own youth. He suggested that the best way this could be done was not through some new economic system, or new form of financial security, but through a trust in our fellow man, and through being honest and sincere ourselves.

HE SAID that the cause of warfare today is so sudden that it sneaks in on humanity. It is built up by fear, suspicion and the breakdown of moral character that inevitably follows when man cannot trust man.

If we keep faith with one another and with God, and can reach a state where we earnestly believe that man's word is as good as his bond, we have built an indestructible memorial to our youth, whose lives were abruptly ended by war.

In several Edmonton churches, invitations were sent out to ex-servicemen and women and their families to attend the special services.

SPECIAL prayers for bereaved families were said, and in many instances, congregations observed two minutes of silence in honor of Canada's war dead.

CITY VISITOR

R.W. Lebeau, Montreal, special representative for the Canadian Passenger Association, was an Edmonton visitor Monday in the course of an annual tour of the Dominion. He was a guest at the Macdonald.

Dedication Service Held

Honoring the memory of 79 men from both world wars, who paid the supreme sacrifice, an impressive dedication service was held in the Metropolitan United Church Sunday evening, dedicating the new Memorial Chapel.

The service was conducted by the Rev. R. McElroy Thompson, church minister, and was attended by a large number of the congregation. Topic of Mr. Thompson's sermon was "The Value of Memorials." The service was highlighted with the singing of "Requiem" by Guy Turner and the church choir.

The chapel is situated in the southwest portion of the church, seats about 70, and is finished in natural hardwood throughout.

In addition to being used for small religious gatherings, it will be open throughout the week for those desiring to use it for meditation and prayer.

"Today we meet to honor the memory of the dead of two world wars. But they did not die merely that we may come every November 11 to remember them. They died to cleanse the world and free it from future war, and the honor they want us to pay them is to place ourselves, in thought and deed, on the side of the peace-makers. We have got to think rightly and behave rightly, or they will have died in vain."

This was the challenge the Very Rev. Dean A.M. Trendell, padre of the Canadian Legion, left with his listeners Monday, when he addressed a packed Memorial Hall, filled with service and veterans' groups who foregathered to honor the memory of the dead of the wars of 1914-18, and 1939-45.

Navy, army and air force personnel who saw service in the recent war, and who are now members of reserve units in the city, and members of active service units stood with bowed heads in mournful silence along with gray-haired veterans of the First World War, who, on 28 similar occasions in the past, have gathered to honor their fallen comrades.

FLAGS AND COLORS draped the hall for the service. Assembling at 10:25 a.m., the troops and veterans' groups marched into the hall and took their places for the 40-minute service.

Uniforms of active service personnel were in marked contrast to the caps and civilian dress of veterans' groups. Medals and ribbons worn with pride told of courage and devotion of their wearers in both wars.

The Remembrance Day service in the Memorial Hall, arranged by the Canadian Legion, and attended by hundreds of war veterans and members of reserve units, was the highlight of city-wide observances planned to honor our Glorious Dead.

AT THE TIME of this service, other Remembrance services were held by the Kingsway Canadian Legion, South Side Legion, the Canadian Corps Association and the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada.

Solemnly and with hearts once again saddened by memories of comrades who fought and died alongside of them in the two bitterest of wars in human history, Edmonton veterans paid homage and respect to the memory of those who died in active service.

Percy J. Gwynne, president of the Canadian Legion, Montgomery branch was in charge of the ceremoony of Remembrance.

IN THE ARRANGING of ourselves on the side of the peace-makers we have two duties - right thinking and right behavior, Dean Trendell said.

"I suggest to you," he said, "that the Russian common man wants peace as much as you do."

"Some years ago Einstein said that if two per cent of the world's population really determined to get their way they would succeed. I am convinced that 98 per cent of the world's population wants peace as much as they want anything else.

"EINSTEIN based his theory on the fact that the majority of the people allowed themselves to be pushed into this or that policy without asserting themselves and without standing by what they really want.

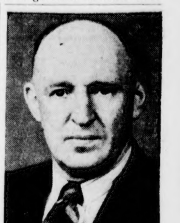

"Are we going to be content to be pushed around by intangible forces of mass psychology until we are driven into a position none of us really desires?" he asked.

"We have now had more than a year of peace in which we ought to have been building for peace on sound foundations," he said.

"WHAT HAVE we today in the world? Bottlenecks which prevent our people being properly housed, labor troubles that are spreading

Farmers Back Exports

Great Britain's expressed desire for continuity of supply of Canada's basic produce is meeting with the full support of farmers in the interests of stabilizing western Canadian agriculture, according to a statement Monday by the Alberta Federation of Agriculture of which Lew Hutchinson, Calgary, is president.

THE STATEMENT followed remarks attributed to George S. Mathieson, president of the Winnipeg Grain Exhange, which characterized the western farmer as not being "excited" abut the Canadian government filling its wheat contract with the United Kingdom, and that reduced wheat deliveries are tying up cargo vessels in the St. Lawrence.

Mr. Hutchinson's statement, in part, was as follow:

The true picture is that the prairie provinces marketed during the period from Aug. 1 to Oct. 25 of this year, 33,775,159 bushels of wheat more than during the same period in 1945. This increase has been made in spite of a wet, backward harvest season in many parts. If the wheat is not available for ocean shipping, it is because of factors beyond the control of the producer.

ON THE OTHER HAND, we agree that the western farmer is not rushing his wheat to market as in days of yore. With a guaranteed price he can spread his sales over the year and not worry about a decline in price because Alberta had a "million dollar rain".

CCL Leader Condemns Union Bond-Posting

Strong opposition to the principle of unions posting monetary bonds as surety against "illegal" and sympathy strikes was voiced Saturday by A. R. Mosher, Ottawa, president of the Canadian Congress of Labor, who is in Edmonton in the course of a western tour.

THE SUBJECT arose when Mr. Mosher's opinion was sought in connection with the contract between the M. D. Mutiart Lumber Company and its union employes, which the union refused to endorse due to a clause requiring it to post a sum of $20,000 as a bond against "illegal" and sympathy strikes, which if they occurred the company could forfeit.

At the request of the union the contract in question will go before a board of arbitration. It is thought that this is the first time in union-management history that such a stipulation has been sought.

Condemning the proposal Mr. Mosher said "such a principle would destroy unionism forthwith."

HE SAID THAT if such a precedent was adopted on a wide scale it would give give employers the opening whereby they could pad their staffs with "plants" who would agitate an illegal strike thus forfeiting the bond and smashing the union.

"It would be interesting if this company would go to the Manufacturers' Association and see if they would agree to post bonds also," the union president said.

George Watt, manager of the lumber company, said Saturday that the whole purpose of the request for a posted surety was for the protection of non-union members of the staff.

When a strike occurs non-union members are offered pay by the union in order to remain off duty and picket, and this was a principle with which he was in strong disagreement, said Mr. Watt.

HE WAS OPPOSED to the sense of compulsion exerted over non-union employes by a minority of union members, and of sympathy walk-outs in disputes between the management and employes of other companies.

"We have an open shop," said Mr. Watt, "this is a democracy and if a man does not choose to belong to a union there is no reason why he should have to."

He said he would not consider the whole shop becoming unionized. "We'll fight to the last ditch," he declared.

Appeal Case Dismissed

Appeal by Kenneth Abbott and James Graham, Edmonton, against conviction and eight years imprisonment imposed on them by Chief Justice W. H. Howson on a charge of breaking and entering the Thompson and Dynes Co. store was dismissed by the Alberta court of appeal Friday.

C. M. MacLEOD, KC, counsel for the crown, submitted that the evidence of the close association between Abbott and Graham who returned to Edmonton the day previous to the break-in, the finding of an imprint on the roof of the store which matched the rubber heel of one of Graham's shoes, and their hurried depature from Edmonton immediately after the robbery were all signs of guilt.

Counsel for the appellants submitted there was no evidence against the appellants to sustain the conviction. He said they came to Edmonton for a holiday, and left next day because they were unable to find hotel accommodation.

Tribute Paid War Dead

real want and discontent and domestic troubles that are breaking up marriages, families and homes," he said.

"There is a personal responsibility, not accepted, in all this unsettlement. If we cannot behave in these matters in a way that is conducive to peace, how can we expect to live in a world of peace?

"The contributions we can make today are right thinking, and right acting.

"THESE ARE the two great forces which work for peace and they are both within our grasp," he said. "On this Remembrance Day let us pledge ourselves to a consideration of these matters and then implement them in our own thinking and behavior."

The hush that fell over the city at 11:00 a.m., as the boom of guns and sirens ushered in the traditional two minutes silence in honor of the dead, spread over the packed Memorial Hall as all gathered there, stood in silent prayer and memory of heroes long-dead but not forgotten.

Solemn notes of the Last Post and Reveille played by Buglers A. Jones and H. Maines, broke over the hushed hall as the end of the period of silence.

FOLLOWING the service, the servicemen and veterans' units formed up outside the hall, and to music played by the Canadian Legion brass and pipe bands, moved off along quiet streets lined with Edmonton citizens, to the Edmonton cenotaphs.

Here they joined with other units in publicly honoring the Glorious Dead.

At the general salute, all colors were dipped. Wreaths of Flanders' poppies were then placed on the cenotaph by His Honor J. J. McGoy. J. C. Bowen, the Hon. C. E. Gerhart, on behalf of the province of Alberta and Mayor Harry Ainlay, in the name of the City of Edmonton. Other wreaths, purchased by Edmonton firms and organizations were banked around the cenotaph for the service.

DEAN TRENDELL led in a prayer for the dead. The Last Post was sounded by the buglers and the Lament, played by Pipe Major Henry Laing. The national anthems of U.S.A., and of Great Britain brought the service to a close.

Parading with the Canadian Legion were members of the Canadian Corps Association, the Red Chevron Association, the Army and Navy Veterans, the British Imperial Veterans, the South Africa Vets., U. S. forces and Canadian active service groups and women's auxiliaries.

Following this service, the parade moved north on 102 street and east along Jasper avenue to a saluting base erected on the southeast corner of Jasper avenue and 101 street corner.

Here His Honor, in the presence of several provincial and civic officials as well as military personnel took the salute.

After the march-past, the parade moved east along Jasper avenue, to the accompaniment of military music, south along 100 street and west and north to the Memorial Hall where they were dispersed.

THE CANADIAN Corps Association attended a private service at the Masonic Temple where the Rt. Rev. W. F. Barfoot, Anglican Bishop of Edmonton gave an address, and led in the service of remembrance. They joined the Canadian Legion parade at the cenotaph for the joint service.

The Army and Navy Veterans in Canada assembled earlier in the morning for their service of remembrance at their clubrooms in the Churchill Block. They too, assembled later at the cenotaph for a service and following this, took part in the march-past.

Recipes for cooking tasty pot roasts

Cool, crisp autumn days make pot roasts seem just right on the menu. Beef pot roasts are old stand-bys in almost every family, but veal, pork, and lamb are equally good as a change.

SPICY OLD FASHIONED POT ROAST—Try this recipe not only with beef, but with veal or pork.

Sprinkle a 3-pound beef rump or chuck pot roast with ¼ teaspoon ground clove, salt and pepper. Dredge in flour. Brown in melted drippings in a heavy kettle with tight-fitting cover. Tie 1 teaspoon mixed pickling spices in cheesecloth and drop into the kettle. Pour 1 cup cooked or canned tomatoes and ½ cup water over roast. Cover and simmer slowly until meat is tender 2½ to 3 hours. If necessary, add extra water as meat cooks. Remove pickling spices. Serve meat with the spicy sauce as gravy. Serves 6 to 8.

CRANBERRY PORK POT ROAST—Baked sweet potatoes go well with this pot roast, and the tartness of the cranberry sauce points up the mild-flavored pork.

Dredge a 3-pound pork shoulder roast in flour; brown well in drippings in a large heavy kettle with a tight-fitting cover. Melt 2 cups cranberry sauce in a saucepan with 1 cup of water; stir; pour over pot roast. Cover and cook slowly about 2 hours, or until meat is tender, adding more water if needed. Serves 6 to 8.

THE FARREL AGENCIES
Today we want to tell you about a few income properties:
WEST END
South of Jasper — Close in
TWO stucco (duplexed). Both these properties have oak floors and excellent plumbing throughout. We are asking $13,500 for each, but would consider if they were both purchased by the same party, a reduction of $500 on each place. They stand side by side and are both exceptionally well-built. Separate entrances, separate heating plants, and tenants pay all utilities.
CLOSE IN VIEW PROPERTY
12 ROOMS all told. This fine stucco home built as two separate units six years ago. About as modern as one would wish to see. Double stucco garage. This property is being sold several thousand dollars less than you could build it today. And remember, when this place was built, the lumber that was used was definitely seasoned.
ALL IN GARNEAU
TWO large stucco semi-bungalows with double plumbing. Also large five-room bungalow in this district, and a six room frame house close to University with two additional rooms in basement, that is priced right and possession may be obtained by the 15th of this month.

Critic Finds Show Of Art Disappoints

By F. H. Norbury

At the Museum of Arts this month is an exhibit of 34 works by the Canadian Society of Painters in Oils that is sponsored by the National Gallery of Canada. This society is the acknowledged successor to the "Group of Seven" which, in its day initiated an epoch of remarkable advance in the art world. There must have been some catastrophic influence at work to account for the present lapse from nearly all that is truthful and of good report. The sense of what is beautiful seems to have been lost sight of in at least half of the works and in the other half is very severely strained.

If technical accomplishment is considered in place of beauty, a few will qualify for mention. Yvonne McKague Housser's "The Shore Line, Northern Ontario" is a worthy and impressive example. Prudence Howard's "A Summer's Day" and "Caladium" show conscientious effort, misapplied. Good color quality and spacing but lack of truth are evident in "Rock and Birch Trees," by H. Masson; and "McGill Cab-stand," by Kathleen Morris tells a tale creditably. Muhlstock's "Street Corner in Montreal" has licht and a feathery foliage but a weak centre. There is vigor and meaning in "Ditch Diggers," by Jack Bush, and Paraskeva Clark's "Tulips on a Green Table" has pleasing color and motive. "Cape Breton House," by Peter Haworth is stark in the extreme but uninviting. Anne Savage's two, "Metis Beach" and "Lighthouse" have some qualities but the monotony palls. A well painted typical Canadian subject, "Midnight at Charlie's," by W. A. Winter shows some good night lighting.

Two of the original group of seven send pictures of interest, A. Y. Jackson's "Early Spring, L'Islet" is truly descriptive in his known manner yet depressing and showing nothing of the hopefulness of Spring. Arthur Lismer's "Sea Stuff" really gets the effect with its tide foreground and stormy sea beyond.

Beef Cattle Fitted Cheaply on Pasture

Beef can be produced satisfactorily on the Alberta mixed farm by the utilization of pasture, roughage, a small quantity of grain and a minimum of labor. This has been shown by a test over a 12-month period just concluded at the university farm by the animal science department.

Highlight of the feeding test was the gains of almost 2½ pounds daily by the 12 steers on "cover crop" during 60 days on the lush pasture of green oats sown in July on summerfallow. This approximates gains of 150 pounds apiece, which at the prevailing price of $12 per cwt. for choice live steers means $18 value was added to each steer in the final two months.

Made Ready Early

Weighed up last week the net gain was 2.42 pounds daily for the 60 days on "cover crop" and the beef was ready for market as good killing stock without further finishing.

Average gains of beef cattle on this sort of pasture at the university farm had been 2.49 pounds for the period over three fall tests.

The cattle on test were rangebred steers that weighed around 450 pounds when purchased a year ago. Most of them topped 1,000 pounds some weighed 1,100 as they moved to market.

Wintered Cheaply

Wintered cheaply in a feedlot with hay, straw about 10 bushels of grain apiece, which provided a daily chop ration of about two pounds, they were turned into pasture in May. They were turned into pasture, finished beef pretty much on grass, hay and "cover crop." This was the first year-long test.

"It has proven a cheap way to make beef," said J. P. Sackville, in commenting on the tests. He pointed out that steers finished in this way were sure of a ready sale as well-fitted beef.

Australia's wheat production is now estimated at 130 million bushels, a drop of 25 million bushels from earlier estimates of 155 million bushels.

September Trade Below 1945 Figure

OTTAWA, (CP)—Dominion bureau of statistics reported Monday Canada's external trade in September—one full year after the end of the war—was valued at $329,079,000 compared with $419,218,000 in August and $347,240,000 in September, 1945.

The September trade of 1946 was far in excess of the September 1935-39 average of $137,429,000.

Merchandise imports in September were $156,096,000, compared with $122,290,000 in September, 1945, almost three times as high as the prewar five-year average for September.

Aggregate value of merchandise imported during the first nine months was $1,369,810,000 compared with $1,187,770,000 in 1945 and the 1935-39 average of $493,611,000.

Domestic merchandise export trade was reduced in September, valued at $169,779,000 against $242,685,000 in August and $220,810,000 in the corresponding month last year. Exports for the first nine months were valued at $1,663,944,000, compared with $2,516,966,000 in 1945 and the average of $616,576,000 for 1935-39.

Gains in imports were widely distributed throughout the whole commodity list in September, outstanding increases being shown in farm implements, industrial machinery, coal, petroleum, rubber, wool, cotton and artificial silk. The outstanding decreases were in exports of Canadian war materials from ...

Holiday Observed On U. S. Markets

NEW YORK, (AP) — Business will be at a standstill in the United States Monday with leading security, commodity and most livestock markets shut down in observance of Armistice Day.

Since Canada observed Remembrance Day, its security markets and the Winnipeg grain exchange also suspended trading.

The London stock market remained open as usual.

Livestock

EDMONTON LIVESTOCK

Stockyard receipts on Monday: Cattle 1,114; calves 222; hogs 316; sheep 75.

Trading on the cattle market was good with prices steady and in line with the previous close. Receipts are liberal but all offerings are moving easily and a good clearance is expected. Practical top on steers $12.00 with a few at $12.25. Good to choice butcher heifers $10.25 to $10.75 with the odd one at $11. Good cows $8.25 to $9.

WINNIPEG LIVESTOCK

WINNIPEG, (CP) — Trade opened none too fast. Early sales steady to a trifle easier.

Steers, good, 11.75 to 12.50; medium, 10.00 to 11.50; heifers, choice, 11.25 to 11.50; good, 9.75 to 11.00; fed calves, good, 11.75 to 12.25; medium, 10.50 to 11.50; cows, good, 8.75 to 9.50; bulls, good, 9.00 to 10.00; stocker and feeder steers, good, 10.00 to 11.00.

3 New Varieties Of Grain Released

Three new cereal varieties, two of wheat and one of barley, will appear on the prairies this year.

Redman wheat — Somewhat earlier than Thatcher; resistant to stem rust and to bunt or stinking smut; highly resistant to leaf rust, loose smut and root rot. High in milling and baking value; it yields well. A small amount has been distributed to farmers who made applications long ago. Supplies are now exhausted.

Rescue wheat — Resistant to saw-flies, but not quite equal to Marquis in baking quality, can only grade No. 3 northern. Those who require small amounts should apply to the dominion experimental farm at Lethbridge or Swift Current.

Montcalm barley — A smooth-awned barley closely resembling O.A.C. 21; it has high malting qualities. Those who require a few bushels should apply to the Alberta or Saskatchewan or Manitoba crop improvement associations or to the "crop testing plan", Winnipeg.

No announcement — Considerable publicity has already been given to an outstanding new oat variety. The fact is that there are several new varieties. A choice has to be made soon by the dominion plant breeders' committee. Should one of these varieties be accepted then the small plots available will probably be distributed to professional seed growers only for further multiplication.

Negus Drill Cuts New Gold Ore Vein

TORONTO. — Negus mines has started a new deep drill hole south of the Negus fault, to explore the new east ore zone in this area. Its full depth, 2,500 feet, this hole would traverse an interesting unexplored zone.

This hole, No. S-89, was started Oct. 14 and Negus head office has received a wire from the mine at Yellowknife reporting that at from 211.6 feet to 217.6 feet a vein zone was cut with a true width of approximately 6.0 feet assaying 0.57 ounces ($19.95) per ton.

This intersection probably represents the extension, to the south of the Negus fault, of one of the main veins of the mine. The intersection is important as it indicates the possibility of a new ore shoot within a few hundred feet of the main mine working, said Charles McCrea, president.

Two Men Charged In Clerk's Death

WINNIPEG, (CP)—Joint murder charges were laid against Thomas A. Daniel, 37, and John Ferguson, 38, in connection with the death last Sunday of David Gentles, 47-year-old department store clerk. Police Chief George Smith announced Saturday.

Laying of the charges followed a coroner's jury verdict Friday that Gentles died as a result of "strangulation while in the company of John Ferguson and Thomas Daniel."

RETIRED EDITOR DIES

TORONTO, (CP) — Colin Clyde Campbell, 85, first city editor of the Toronto Daily Star, died of a heart attack Sunday. He had retired in 1929, after nearly 20 years' service.

Chile's wheat acreage is placed at 1,919,000 acres, an increase of approximately 6 percent over last year.

U-Boat Hunting By Light Failed

BERKLEY, Calif., (AP) — Scientists in an experiment before the United States entered the war tried to use powerful light beams and flares as potential anti-submarine weapons but were thwarted by tiny dust-like particles which they found in ocean water.

This was disclosed Monday by Dr. F. A. Jenkins, University of California physicist, who with Dr. I. S. Bowen, now director of the Mount Wilson observatory, performed the tests in 1942 at the naval electronics laboratory in San Diego.

The tiny particles scattered the light so powerful beams spread out instead of retaining their dagger-like shape. However Dr. Jenkins reported, observers were able to see objects under water as much as 580 feet away, probably a record distance but not enough to be effective in under-sea warfare.

Higher Standard Citizenship Asked

LONDON, (Reuters)—Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, Archbishop of Canterbury and primate of all England, Sunday called for a dedication of prayer and action in a B.B.C. Remembrance Day broadcast.

"In spite of our well-meaning aid, vanquished Europe has sunk," the head of the Church of England said. "There but for the grace of God we should have gone.

"The new world into which we are moving demands a much higher standard of citizenship from everyone than before. A sense of duty before right, of work honestly and keenly done, a power to choose what is popular amusements and habits is recreative and socially good, and to reject what is undermining and weakening to public life, a power of criticism to distinguish between the sound and the shoddy."

Asks Jews Oppose Palestine Violence

WINNIPEG, (CP) — Maurice Samuel of New York city told a public meeting here "Jewish generations will come to thank us and bless us if Palestine does not yield and turn itself into a nation of terrorists."

Mr. Samuels, author, traveller and publicist, said "our position in Palestine and the action that we Jews take in the United States toward making the world aware of our problem are the two determining factors of our very survival."

PETROLEUM MEET SOUGHT

Plans for co-ordinating efforts of South American countries to develop their petroleum resources would be mapped at a South American Congress on Petroleum convened there soon. The conference would be first of a series and which Lima, Peru, hopes to have United States participation is to be sought, in view of its preponderant place in the industry. All public and private organizations interested in petroleum development would be invited.

Claxton Is Among Passengers As Queen Elizabeth Docks

NEW YORK, (CP)—Hon. Brooke Claxton, Canada's minister of health and national welfare, was among the 2,287 passengers who landed here Monday from the huge Queen Elizabeth, making her second trip from Southampton as a luxury liner.

Others included the Duke and Duchess of Windsor and an array of nobility, moving picture executives and performers, and seven London mannequins who plan a tour of Canada.

Mr. Claxton, accompanied by his wife, is returning from the Paris peace conference of 21 nations where he headed the Canadian delegation after the departure of Prime Minister King.

"It was borne in on us at Paris, and more particularly here on this 11th day of November — Remembrance day—that if we want to have a lasting peace the nations must work together," Mr. Claxton said.

Mr. Claxton, the Duke and Duchess of Windsor and other passengers ran a close second in popularity to the six Goldwyn girls and seven British mannequins who, along with a number of motion picture stars thronged the spacious after-deck for pictures and interviews.

Others in the passenger list were Viscount Knutsford, noted British horseman on his way to Toronto to judge horses at the Royal Winter Fair, Sir Stanford Cooper, British motor executive, and Lady Cooper, Sir Thomas Bocklebank, British shipping executive, the Earl of Lisbourne, the Earl and Countess of Sandwich, Rt. Hon. Lord Perry, motor executive, and Lady Perry.

The motion picture world was represented by producers Sir Alexander Korda and Michael Powell, and by such stars as Martha Scott and Maria Montez.

The Goldwyn girls were completing a goodwill trip which took them through Canada and the United States, and England.

Their competitors in the field of pulchritude were seven beautiful English models, headed by England's No. 1 mannequin—Grace ...

SOREL, Que., (CP) — Gerard Cournoyer, law partner of the late P. J. A. Cardin, Sunday was chosen Liberal candidate in the Dec. 23 Richelieu-Vercheres federal byelection.

He was the unanimous choice of 150 delegates to fill the commons seat vacated by Mr. Cardin's death Oct. 20.

The Progressive Conservatives will choose their candidate next Sunday in a convention at St. Ours, some eight miles from Sorel.

Roland Corbeil was nominated Nov. 4 to contest the riding for the Association des Electeurs de Quebec. Mr. Corbeil is provincial organizer of the Social Credit group, which won a surprise victory in the Pontiac byelection Sept. 16.

Plunges 7 Floors, Woman Is Killed

NEW YORK, (AP)— Mrs. Max Hill, 38, wife of a news commentator for the N.B.C., plunged to her death Sunday from a window of her seventh-floor apartment in mid-town Manhattan, police reported.

Police said her husband, a former member of the staff of the Associated Press, told them Mrs. Hill had been ill for some time and that she had returned only Friday from a convalescence trip.

Soap Output High But More Is Used

By H. R. Hardy

OTTAWA.— Canadians are using more soap than ever before finds F. H. Lehberg, oils and fats administrator of the prices board. Mr. Lehberg believes the increasing is due to a number of reasons.

First, he believes that it reflects a higher standard of living and a growing awareness that the use of lots of soap and water is a safeguard to good health.

Second, Canada's great industrial expansion means that there are hundreds of thousands more workers who need soap to scrub up with before they leave their plants for the day.

Third, hospitals, taxed to capacity, are using more soap of all kinds. These facts were given by Mr. Lehberg as he reviewed the amazing strides that have been made in Canada's soap industry, which today is the largest single consumer of oils and fats, using 125,000,000 pounds a year.

In 1947 Canadian soap plants will produce 219,000,000 pounds of soap, as against only 200,000,000 pounds in 1940.

The soap shortage, created by a shortage of caustic soda and soda ash, due to strikes, should be fairly well met by early 1947, said Mr. Lehberg. Deliveries of soda ash and caustic soda, he said, would not be normal for some weeks yet, due to damage to unattended kilns.

Farmers he added, were not making the same amount of soap they once did. They found they could get good prices for their fats and were now using the factory product.

Elizabeth Woodward Says . . .

Women are completely unreliable. . .you think. They make promises they don't keep. They say things they don't mean. They hold out a welcome with their eyes. . . and when a guy accepts the invitation he gets the front door slammed in his face. Here you are ready and willing to be impressed by the girls . . .and you feel pressed by a steam roller. How the girls do ride all over you!

You've been running head long into bad luck lately. And for the life of you, you can't see any good reason why your luck should change. Maybe that's the way women are. Maybe that's life. Maybe you're wrong. But what's a guy to think?

The other night at the dance . . .you met a beauteous damsel. She seemed very friendly. She danced a lot with you. . .you talked things over. . .and she accepted your invitation to go to another dance with you without even thinking twice. Everything went off well. It was a success, you thought. You made another date with her for next night and she said okay. But when you stopped around at her house she asked to be excused. Something vague and unimportant about her brother and sister had come to visit. She didn't ask you to join them- she apparently didn't want to leave them- so you did. With your pride in your pocket. The next time you called her she was even vaguer. Couldn't promise anything. . .couldn't tell whether she'd be free for any dates anytime. Seems she is going steady with a couple of fellows. But do call again. Fat chance, you say to yourself! So that was that!

And Mary-Louise, that tall girl you met last month. . .the one with the coal black eyes. She had seemed to like you. She made two or three dates with you. . .everything was going fine. Until her big heavy came home from the Army. Then did she have any time for you? You? Who were you? She had to stop to think.

And Marjorie. She was little and cute. Some date of hers fell through. So she agreed to go out with you instead. But could you line up any of her free time from then on? Free time? She didn't have any! She was too popular. Of course, if you wanted to reserve a night six weeks off . . .but a girl you can't see is no practical use to a fellow!

So you think you're a flop! You toss your hat in a corner and give up the girls as a bad job. When all that ails you is that you're barking up the wrong tree. You pick out girls who are going steady, or girls who are terrifically popular, or girls who happen to be busy the night you want dates. Try the busy girl another night, try the girl who is going steady when she's on the limb between steadies. Find out first whether the girls you like are already taken. . .before you waste your time and energy on them. You're on the prowl for a girl you can call your own. So prowl among unattached women. . .and don't blast with both barrels until you can tell the difference between being friendly. . .and being really interested in you!

Your Baby And Mine

BY MYRTLE MEYER EDLRED

Every child has to adjust himself to the routine of school. This may mean that he loses the opportunity to take an afternoon nap.

Mrs. A.M.C. bewails the loss of this nap for her 6-year-old boy because he is always cranky and cross. He was a premature baby and now weighs 40 pounds, and he likes to sleep.

"I let him alone one morning," she writes, "and he slept until 10:30. If he naps even an hour, though, he isn't sleepy until 8:30 to 9 at night. I will be watching for your answer."

I AM SORRY, you failed to send the usual self-addressed envelope as I could have given you a much speedier answer. By now you must have had to manage some way.

The answer, of course, is an earlier bed hour and no nap. You can't give a nap when the child comes from school as he should then have the privilege of active out-door play to balance the long hours indoors. He is of rather low weight for his age so I would be very sure he gets all the nourishing foods he should have. Give him a rest period of one-half hour before dinner at night and he'll eat better. Put him to bed by 7:30 at the latest.

Mrs. I.W.: Your boy, you say, wets the bed nightly, gets very chilly and has frequent colds because of it. He is a good boy, eats well, drinks lots of milk and is very active. You ask what to do.

IT MIGHT HELP if you restricted the milk he drank to one pint; one cup with each of the first two meals of the day. Any extra milk can be used in and with the solid foods. Be sure to diaper him adequately and change him once when you go to bed. A triangle of white, all-wool flannel, put over the cotton diapers will make for a nice, warm covering that never gets dripping wet.

If you find he wets shortly after he goes to bed, it might be desirable to take him up in an hour or so, and again at your bedtime. After that he should not be disturbed. Bed-wetting is much less apt to be caused by kidney conditions than by lack of bladder control. But, to have a urine test is a good practice when the child is as old as this one.

OUR LEAFLET No. 58 "Bed Wetting," may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope with this request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

Dorothy Dix Says

Dear Miss Dix: I am a bachelor 39 years old, with my own business, very active, active in fraternal, political and municipal organizations. My girl friend is 33 years of age and comes from a prominent and wealthy family. We have known each other for the past five years and became engaged about a year ago.

NOW SHE desires to set a wedding date and I cannot bring myself to do it because I do not love her and look upon being married to her with horror. I am not happy in her company and have tried in every way I can to get her to break off the engagement, but she will not do it because she loves me. I do not want to hurt her and I am at my wits' end to know how to conclude this affair. What is your advice?"

F. J. K.

Answer: No girl is so stupid as not to know whether the man she is engaged to loves her or not, so if your fiancee insists upon marrying you in spite of your coldness and your putting off the wedding day, it is not because she is so enamoured with you, but because you are a desirable catch, and she is determined not to let a good thing get away from her.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am the mother of three children. Shortly after my husband was sent overseas I fell in love with a widower with two children. At that time I wanted to get a divorce, but felt that in fairness to my husband I should wait until he came back before telling him that I no longer loved him and wanted to marry another man.

NOW THAT my husband has been wounded and lost his leg I am so miserable and confused I don't know what I should do. He has been released from the hospital and will be home in a few weeks. What is your advice?

BARBARA

Answer: Do nothing until your husband comes home and you can talk the matter over together. Perhaps seeing him so sadly wounded will revive your old love for him and you will not break up your home and deprive your children of a father's love and care. Or, perhaps, his affection for you may have waned, for many a man's heart suffers a sea change in a long separation from his wife and he is glad to be free of a marriage that he entered into in his early youth.

Dear Miss Dix: While my husband was overseas I fell in love with a man three years younger than myself and he wanted to marry me. We were very much in love, but now that my husband has been killed and we are able to be married he denies that he ever proposed to me and refuse to see me. What shall I do?

BEWILDERED WIDOW

Answer: There is nothing you can do except hunt up another suitor who really means business when he pops the question. You certainly can't marry a man against his will, especially when he is foxy enough not to get within your reach.

Why Grow Old?

When you are ready to tuck yourself in for the night, as Actress Jane Harker is doing, leave your worries elsewhere until morning. They'll only keep you awake.

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

There is no more miserable experience than the one of tossing about in bed with the keen need of sleep firmly upon us and the inability to drop off, harassing us. At such times the eyes feel dry and sandy and as though they were propped wide apart with immovable sticks. Fortunately, most of us have this experience only often enough to make us sympathetic with those who suffer from insomnia.

THOUSANDS of people in this country do have great difficulty in sleeping as they should and it takes some of them long hours to get to sleep at all. Many remedies have been suggested, such as exercise, air baths, deep breathing exercises, light suppers, warm milk, etc. These are all valuable aids because the reasons for insomnia often lie in the physical makeup. It does seem, however, that many people overlook the mental and psychological aspects of cause and cure.

I believe most of us discover, on occasions when we cannot sleep, that we have some problem or vague worry on our mind. Our mind may be racing with thoughts of all we have to do tomorrow or this week or buzzing about some problem, the solution to which we have not discovered.

THE HABIT of thinking things out after going to bed is a very bad one. At first it may seem innocuous enough but it should not be nurtured. If you have to worry it is better to sit up in a chair and do it because the correlation between sleep and bed should be firmly fixed in your subconscious, as well as conscious mind.

We should also have the feeling of mental and physical and nerve limpness when we go to bed. In other words, before going to bed some of the tensions and cares of the day should have been somewhat pushed back from our acute consciousness. It is impossible to take a running jump from the middle of a busy day and expect to go right off to sleep the moment you land in bed.

FOR THIS reason it is a good idea to make a leisurely toilet, to make a ritual of getting ready for bed. This slows you down and prepares your mind for sleep. Some people profit by reading or listening to the radio after getting in bed and before turning off the light. This is probably a good idea if the music and story are not too stimulating. It helps break the gripping chain of the day and gets your mind off current problems.

If you wish to have my leaflet No. 34 "Shuteye" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

Strictly speaking, the common usage of the term "climax" as applied to the emotional high spot of a play is all wrong. The word climax originally came from the Greeks, and it means "ladder." As applied to plays, the climax is actually the entire rising action, climbing like a ladder. The top of the ladder, or high point in the action, has been misnamed "climax". The whole ascending action of the play is the climax.

Bridge

BY WILLIAM E. McKENNEY

Most bridge players tell you only about their good plays and it is refreshing to have someone send in an interesting hand in which he got the worst of it. Howard W. Bennett of Schenectady, N. Y., is a popular fellow who often tells a story in which he comes out on the wrong end.

Some time ago Bennett was teaching a class of beginners and he spent some time impressing upon them that distribution is equally as valuable as high cards. The class thought they still would like to hold the aces and kings and let him have the distribution.

After the class a rubber game was started and one of the students was kibitzing when today's hand came up.

When South opened the bidding with four hearts, Bennett (East) was eager for the chance to double Rubber—Neither vul.

Pass	Pass	Redouble	Pass

it, but to his surprise North chimed in with the seven bid.

Of course he lost no time in doubling, and North redoubled. One can hardly blame Bennett for doubling even though he had just given a lesson on distribution.

Declarer ruffed the opening spade lead in dummy with the seven of hearts, led the ace of hearts, and West ducked out. As East was the doubler, declarer led dummy's ace of diamonds, then played the queen. Bennett refused to go up with the king and declarer discarded a club.

When the grand slam was made, the kibitzer looked at Bennett and said, "Is that what you meant by high cards and distribution?" And after a moment's thought the kibitzer added, "Mr. Bennet, if you had bid seven spades, your side would have gone down only 100."

While distribution does play a very important part in contract bridge, I still advise you to double

Attlee Warns U.N. Will Fail If Used as Ideological Forum

LONDON, (CP) — Prime Minister Attlee declared Saturday that any "obstruction" and "propaganda attacks" have marked the proceedings of the United Nations and predicted that the U. N. would fail if it is used as a forum for "ideological differences."

His sharp criticism of the world peace organization was accompanied by an assertion that the key to European prosperity and peace lies in reaching a settlement on the future of Germany—a subject being considered by the Big Four foreign ministers in New York.

In a speech at the annual lord mayor's banquet which climaxed a day of pomp and pageantry not seen in London for eight years, the prime minister upheld British action in India, Burma and elsewhere to "refute contentions that the British Commonwealth and Empire is animated by imperialism."

He pledged also that Britain would work for " our ideals of peace and to lift the heavy burden of armaments from the people of the world. He added "I emphasize that disarmament cannot be unilateral."

Must Have Security

In apparent reference to Russia's proposal to the United Nations general assembly for world disarmament, Mr. Attlee commented:

"The lesson of the inter-war period was that disarmament must march hand in hand with the establishment of a general system of security."

"I know that we have all felt disappointment in the way in which the organization is being used," said Mr. Attlee of the U. N. "Instead of its proceedings being objective and business-like there are propaganda attacks on flimsy pretexts and a variety of episodes which have tended to bring the organization into disrepute instead of building up the confidence we so much desire.

"It is clear that if the United Nations organization is to be used as a forum for debating ioeological differences, it will fail. . . "

Appeals for Patience

The U. N. could succeed only if it is to be used "to secure to all nations the freedom to preserve their own ways of life while contributing to the common good of the world." The prime minister cautioned, however, against impatience with the U. N., saying "this organization cannot be built in a moment."

Foreign Secretary Bevin had "exercised the greatest restraint in not indulging in polemics in reply to attacks made upon this country in speeches made at the United Nations and in sections of the foreign press and broadcasts.

"It is better to answer by deeds, not words. Our action in India, in Burma, in colonial Empire and elsewhere refute the contentions that the British Commonwealth and Empire is animated by imperialism."

In reference to the vanquished enemy, the prime minister said:

"In Europe the key to prosperity, peace and tranquility will be the settlement of Germany.

Trade Balance Worries

"Surely if ever there was a problem that merits the wise co-operation of Allied statesmen without bickering, without ideological considerations, excepting that we all agree Germany must be democratic, this is the one."

He urged that the German people be permitted to use their great industrial activity but cautioned that "these industries must not again be allowed to become an arsenal to be used by a new Germany to attack their neighbors, or to promote another war. . . "

In the field of international commerce, Mr. Attlee said, one of the greatest problems is the balance of trade:

"This will be a continuous source of concern to this country for many years ahead, until we have completed the adjustment of our international trade to the sacrifice of overseas income which we made in the war.

"We have started well, for our ex-

Canadians Help

"We have started well, for our exports have topped the pre-war level, and I believe in the vigor with which the nation is pressing the export drive is impressing on our friends abroad the determination with which we are tackling the problem of regaining our external economic stability.

"We are, of course, greatly helped by the breathing space afforded by the Canadian and United States lines of credit. . .But I must remind you again that they provide only for a breathing space. . . This problem of the balance of payments is not one which we shall solve quickly or easily."

A three-hour parade, two miles in length, marked the traditional celebration of the annual lord mayor's show. The theme of the procession was "Work and Play," and travelling tableaux showed the British navy, army and air force on duty and at play.

18 Inches Snow Fell in Colorado

DENVER, (AP) — Shivering snow-bound Coloradans began to dig themselves out Sunday from under 18 inches of snow after a two-day storm which raised the death toll to 13 and caused stock losses running into thousands of dollars.

Air rescue missions to drop food and supplies to isolated ranches and communities were resumed Sunday after the snowfall halted Saturday evening. Denver had 18 inches in the mountains, the snow was piled in deep drifts and roads were impassable.

Automobile and bus travel was resumed in some areas on a crawling basis and trains were late.

Tells Importance Of Export Trade

TORONTO, (CP)—Canada has a big stake in the arrangement of multilateral agreements to reduce trade barriers, 500 delegates to the annual convention of the Canadian Exporters' association were told Friday by H. G. Colebrook, general manager of the Robert Simpson Company.

"Prosperity can only be achieved through the maximum flow of trade —imports as well as exports—among all countries," he said.

D. P. Hatch, Montreal, was elected president. Directors include G. F. Mathieson, Winnipeg.

Mr. Mathieson, Winnipeg grain trader and former president of the Winnipeg grain exchange, criticized Canada's long-term wheat agreement with Great Britain and said it was "a direct step toward government management of business."

This year, he said, Canada will have an estimated 370,000,000 bushels of wheat for export and carry-over and therefore it should not be difficult to ship the required quota to England. Yet ships had been waiting in the St. Lawrence river for wheat.

Export controls must be continued to maintain adequate domestic supplies of goods, to meet food export contracts and other European commitments and to stop raids on Canadian supplies by countries where prices are above the Canadian ceilings, W. F. Bull, director of the export division of the trade and commerce department, said.

Norman S. Read of Ottawa, executive secretary of the Canadian Congress of Labor, demanded that the federal government act to stop what he called "the export of Intelligence—the trek of our young college graduates to the United States and the United Kingdom."

Canada brought in immigrants, many of them illiterate, and sent out its college men, he asserted.

"I don't think we can put an embargo on these young people leaving the country but we should make it worth while to stay in Canada."

Employment, Pay Climb in Canada

OTTAWA, (CP)—Improvement in employment and income for hourly-rated wage earners was reported Friday by the dominion bureau of statistics for Sept. 1 as compared with Aug. 1.

Increases were recorded in the number of these workers, in the total hours worked and in aggregate hourly wages, according to returns from 6,176 manufacturers. In some cases, gains were related from settlement of industrial disputes, but the bureau said continued strikes elsewhere affected the picture.

Average weekly wages were $30.15 at the date under review, compared with $30.10 the week of Aug. 1. At Sept. 1, 1945, the average pay was $30.52, but the bureau said the tours worked then were longer.

Hourly-rated personnel Sept.1 totalled 714,239 against 702,485 for a month previously, an increase of 1.7 percent. Total pay was $21,523,-582, an increase of 1.8 percent over the $21,139,000 for Sept. 1.

The average hourly rate increased from 70 to 70.6, the highest indicated for 23 months.

Charge Klan Tried Merge with Bund

ATLANTA, Ga., (AP) — The state of Georgia charged the Ku Klux Klan Saturday with attempting a 1940 merger with the German-American bund, and accused the hooded order of seeking to weld ultra-nationalist veterans' groups and anti-Semitic, anti-Negro anti-Catholic factions.

The charges were an amendment to an earlier suit to revoke the Klan's charter. A hearing on demurrers to the original petition is due Nov. 25.

The amended petition was introduced coincident with state litigation to revoke the charter of a new anti-Negro, anti-Jewish organization called "Columbians, Inc." The petition alleges:

In 1940, certain local Klans on the eastern seaboard made "a definite, planned effort" to combine the Klan and the German-American bund into one "all-Aryan" organization, and undertook joint operations to boycott Jewish, Roman Catholic and Negro-owned business.

The petition continues:

Samuel Stout, 3rd, of Philadelphia, Klan grand dragon of Pennsylvania, worked and collaborated with Edward James Smythe, diretor of the Protestant War Veterans; August Kapprott, deputy national fuehrer of the German-American bund; Arthur H. Bell, grand kleagle of New Jersey; and James A. Colescott, imperial wizard of the invisible Empire, in arranging a joint meeting of the German-American bund and the Ku Klux Klan Aug. 19, 1940, at Camp Nordland, Andover, N. J.

"As early as 1934, Dr. Edward Rumely, probably the most highly-paid German agent in the U. S. during the First World War, appeared at such meetings," the petition states.
